DEER SEASON
DEATH TOTAL
MOUNTS TO 10ONE HUNTER DIES
IN MARQUETTE
HOTEL LOBBY

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The death from a heart attack of Earl Richards, 50, of Bellaire, brought to 10 Saturday the number of fatalities among Michigan deer hunters during the first three days of the 1945 season. At least five more nimrods were wounded, making a total of 19 up until late Saturday.

Richards, third heart attack victim of the season, died in the lobby of a Marquette hotel Saturday forenoon upon his return from Sand River where he had been hunting.

The state conservation department's tabulation now shows five hunters dead of gunshot wounds; three of heart attacks; one of pneumonia and one of injuries suffered in an automobile accident.

Arrests Reach 166

The department Saturday reported road and hunting conditions throughout the state were good. It also reported a total of 166 arrests for violations of the hunting laws. Illegal kill recovered totaled 162.

New non-fatal shootings reported Saturday included:

Donald MacGregor, Detroit, wounded in the leg by a bullet from the gun of a hunting companion.

Edward W. Rapke, Belleview, who shot three fingers off his left hand near Levison.

Frank Hollabaugh, Crystal, struck in the hip by a stray bullet, near Red Oak.

C. Rowley, Comstock Park, hit in right forearm by a bullet fired by another hunter in Gladwin county.

Albert Street, Flint, may lose his right arm as the result of bullet wounds inflicted by another hunter, also in Gladwin county.

Shoots From Wheelchair

One of the successful nimrods was Joe Kreig, 36, of Conway, who has been in a wheel chair for 13 years. Sitting in his chair on a deer runway near Wolverine, Kreig brought down a four-point, 135 pound buck.

No new reports of lost hunters came to the conservation department today.

A report from Newberry Saturday told of the discovery by conservation officers of a 500-pound three-year-old bull moose, slain near Long Lake on the Tahquamenon River in Luce county an hour after it had been shot.

The killers, if located, are subject to prosecution by the conservation department for the illegal killing. The offense carries a maximum penalty of $500 fine and a year's imprisonment.

Wife Of Eisenhower
Taken To Hospital;
Pneumonia Feared

Boone, Ia., Nov. 17 (AP)—Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower, wife of the general, was taken in an ambulance to Boone County hospital at 9 p. m. tonight two hours after arriving here with her husband for a family reunion.

Dr. A. B. Deering, Boone physician, said "We fear she is coming down with pneumonia."

Later the doctor said "her present condition is not serious." He said an X-ray would be taken tomorrow.

General Eisenhower followed the ambulance to the hospital where two nurses were caring for her.

Mrs. Eisenhower appeared pale and haggard as she left the private railroad car in which she and the general arrived here for a visit at the home of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Joel C. Carlson.

YOUTH TRAINING
BILL SET BACKHearings May Not Be Completed Before
End Of Year

BY WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

Washington, Nov. 17 (AP)—Prospects for a House vote this year on universal military training faded today as Chairman May (D-Ky.) expressed doubt that the military committee could finish hearings before 1946.

Because of a desire to keep the highly controversial subject out of next year's congressional elections, House leaders had hoped to dispose of the legislation before the Christmas recess.

"I would like to finish the hearings by the middle of December," May said in an interview, "but I am not so sure we can do it. There are many witnesses still to be heard and we are not progressing as rapidly as we had hoped."

Even after the hearings are finished, May pointed out, some time will be needed by the committee to write the legislation.

May blamed opponents for the slow progress on President Truman's request for prompt action on legislation to require every able-bodied male to undergo one year of military training before becoming 20 years of age.

DeGaulle Refuses
Communist Demand
For Cabinet Posts

BY ROBERT C. WILSON

Paris, Nov. 17 (AP)—General De Gaulle tonight declared he resigned as interim president of France because the Communists had demanded one of three key cabinet posts, and that he had refused the demand because of France's interest in maintaining an "equilibrium" between the world's "two very great political powers."

Taking the dispute directly to the people in a radio broadcast, De Gaulle did not mention the two powers by name, but a spokesman in his office said he meant the United States and Russia.

De Gaulle said one of France's major parties—the Communists—had demanded "as a categorical condition" either the ministry of foreign affairs, war, or interior in the cabinet he tried to form.

To accede, he said, would be to endanger "the French policy of equilibrium between the two very great political powers, a policy which I believe absolutely necessary for the interest of the country and even for that of peace."

De Gaulle said in his letter of resignation, made public earlier, that the demands of one party for specific posts were "incompatible with the conditions of independence, cohesion and authority" essential for the government. He referred to the Communists, but did not name them in the letter.

Five-Day, 40-Hour
Week Demanded By British Tradesmen

London, Nov. 17 (AP)—British trade unions will demand introduction of a five-day, 40-hour week under a new program of industrial reform. Sir Walter Citrine, general secretary of the Trades Union Conference, said tonight.

Sir Walter, addressing a conference called by the Spen Valley Trades Council, said the program could be effected by successive stages without loss of production.

Southwest Stages
Great Manhunt For Last Bandit Chief

BY FRANCIS E. BARDEN

Oklahoma City, Nov. 17 (AP)—Matt Kimes, last of the bandit chieftains who terrorized the southwest a score of years ago, was sought tonight in this area's biggest manhunt since the days of Pretty Boy Floyd.

Kimes, the FBI charged, used a leave from the state penitentiary, where he was serving two life terms for slaying officers, to engineer the $17,000 robbery of the First State Bank of Morton, Tex., last Sept. 5.

As word went out Kimes was wanted, veteran peace officers, many with scores to settle with the onetime leader of an outlaw gang specializing in double and triple bank robberies, aimed their guns and took up the hunt.

All were cautioned by D. A. Bryce, head of the FBI here and nationally known quick-draw artist, to use care if they met up with the fugitive.

In Washington J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the FBI, spurred on his men with a statement Kimes was "one of the most vigorously sought fugitives" in the nation.

Kimes had served 18 years in McAlester penitentiary when he told the pardon and parole board he had learned his lesson and the board gave him two leaves to gather evidence to support his parole request.

The "Kid Outlaw" of the 1920's was serving life terms for murdering Sheriff Perry Chuculate in a Sequoyah county bank robbery and for slaying Police Chief W. J. McAnnally during a triple bank holdup at Beggs, Okla.

Bryce said there was no doubt Kimes was involved in the Texas bank robbery, carried out by three men who lined up patrons at pistol point while the fourth, a "finger man," stayed in the background.

MERGER RISKY,
NIMITZ ARGUESSea Fighter Fears Joint
Command Will Weaken
Naval Strength

BY FRANCIS J. KELLY

Washington, Nov. 17 (AP)—Five-star Admiral Chester W. Nimitz urged Congress today to scuttle its proposal to merge the army and navy, on the ground it would endanger American command of the seas.

"A merger of the two departments means, at best, no more advantages than we have now," the Pacific fleet commander told the Senate Military Affairs Committee.

"At worst, it means that the navy, and the command of the seas so vital for our country, will suffer."

Rather than a merger, he endorsed Navy Secretary Forrestal's proposal for creation of a national security council composed of the secretaries of state, war and navy.

The frosty haired sea fighter laid aside his prepared manuscript and faced the committee members squarely.

"I have come to the conclusion," he said, "that the yardstick by which we should measure any proposal to merge the armed services is: How does it affect our seapower?"

"Our country is dependent on seapower for its external influence. If we control the sea-lanes, we have influence. If not, we are limited to the boundaries of our country."

Former Peninsula
Congressman Dies

Washington, Nov. 17 (AP)—W. Frank James, 72, congressman from Michigan's 12th district from 1914-1934, died today at his home in Arlington, Va., after an extended illness.

He fought in Cuba in the Spanish-American War and served as treasurer and mayor of Hancock, Mich., and later as state senator before coming to congress. He was a Republican.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday in Arlington, and burial will be in the Arlington National cemetery. Surviving him are his widow and four children, all of the Washington area.

Chinese Nationals
Fear Red Coup, Quit
Manchurian Capital

BY SPENCER MOOSA

Chungking, Nov. 17 (AP)—Chinese Nationals, fearing a Communist coup, were reported quitting Manchuria's capital of Changchun today even as their own troops fought into the province for the first time.

A field dispatch said Nationalist troops—the Communists asserted four U. S.-equipped divisions were in the vanguard—were pressing beyond the great wall into southern Manchuria, but still were 440 miles from Changchun.

Between them and the capital stood Communist forces stoutly dug in. The Chungking press carried reports that well-armed Communist bands had been seen near Changchun and appeared ready to take over as soon as the Russians withdrew.

The situation also remained tense around Tientsin, where marines and Chinese Communists traded shots yesterday after the latter fired on a train bearing Maj. Gen. DeWitt Peck, commander of

CODE FOR JAP
PEARL HARBOR
ATTACK BAREDSNEAK RAID ORDERS
RADIOED FROM
TOKYO DEC. 5

BY JACK BELL

Washington, Nov. 17 (AP)—A coded message "climb Mt. Niitaka", radioed from Tokyo Dec. 5 (Hawaiian time), 1941 gave a Japanese task force the signal to launch its sneak attack on Pearl Harbor, congressional investigators were told today.

They also were informed that the Japanese were prepared to call off the attack if diplomatic negotiations in Washington had succeeded.

Rear Adm. T. B. Inglis related to the Senate-House committee the story of Japanese planning as gleaned from captured documents, questioning of prisoners and, after the occupation, the Tokyo archives and questioning of the imperial naval command.

He said information as to the "Mt. Niitaka" message had reached him from American headquarters in Tokyo only last night and had forced revision of an earlier conclusion that the Japanese irrevocably cast the die for war on Dec. 1, 1941.

Proud Ships Blasted

The task force had left Hito-kappu Bay, in the southern Kuriles, Nov. 25, Inglis said, under instructions which included this statement:

"Should it appear certain that Japanese-American negotiations will reach an amicable settlement prior to the commencement of hostile action, all the forces of the combined fleet are to be ordered to reassemble and return to their bases."

As it was, the fateful "Climb Mt. Niitaka" message was received when the task force of four carriers and escorts was between 800 and 1,000 miles from Hawaii.

The ships moved on to within 200 and in the dawn hours of Dec. 7 loosed 361 planes to blast the Hawaiian naval base and the proud ships riding at anchor there.

Yamamoto's Idea

Here are the high spots of Inglis' account (dates used are Japanese time which is one day later than Hawaiian time):

1. The Pearl Harbor attack was conceived in January, 1941, by Admiral Isoroku Yamamoto ("I'll dictate peace terms in the White House" who later was to die a flaming death when American airmen shot down his transport plane at Rabaul).

2. The operation plan was completed Sept. 13 after summer war (Continued on Page Two)

Burglar Successful
After Five Tries

Detroit, Nov. 17 (AP)—A burglar who wouldn't admit defeat took $5,000 in bonds and jewelry from the home of Edward Schaffer of Dearborn early today.

Sgt. George Hill of the Dearborn police said success came to the interloper on his fifth attempt. The burglar was frightened away from four other residences before he scored, Hill reported.

Legionnaires Swarming
Into Chicago; No Rooms

Chicago, Nov. 17 (AP)—American Legionnaires swarming into Chicago for their 27th annual national convention opening tomorrow got a first hand, personalized sample of veterans housing problems today.

Technically this was to be strictly a delegates' convention without the prewar commotion of uncounted thousands of unofficial skylarking Legionnaire visitors. But even the more or less "official" assembly numbered nearly 10,000 and there were only some 3,000 hotel rooms definitely reserved.

National Adjutant Don Glasscock estimated that perhaps 25,000 Legionnaires would drive into Chicago for the convention from nearby areas in Illinois, Wisconsin, Indiana, Michigan and Iowa. They aren't officially invited and Legion officials said helplessly that if they stay overnight "it's simply up to them to find their own place to bunk."

Committees, meantime, continued their study of resolutions to be proposed to the convention on the veteran housing shortage situation; universal military training, and what form it should take; employment of veterans and how much seniority they should be given when returning from the war to jobs; whether the Legion should advocate a unified command for the armed forces, and a sheaf of measures bearing on veterans' benefits, hospitalization, rehabilitation and concentration of all veterans affairs in the veterans administration.

TOP NAZIS FACE
COURT TUESDAYSoviet Prosecutor Ill;
Nuernberg Trials May Be Postponed

BY GEORGE TUCKER
Nuernberg, Germany, Nov. 17 (AP)—The international war crimes tribunal ruled today that the trials of erstwhile kingpin Nazis would open as scheduled Tuesday without the addition of Alfred Krupp as a defendant, but indications tonight were that the Russians would ask for a delay on the grounds that their chief prosecutor, R. A. Rudenko, was ill in Moscow and would be unable to come here by Tuesday.

The tribunal's action in rejecting an American-French-Russian plea to indict Alfred Krupp as a major war criminal brought quick protests from the French and Russian deputy prosecutors. Jackson declined to comment.

The trial of Alhried's father, the ailing munitions king, Gustav Krupp Von Bohlen Und Halbach, has been postponed indefinitely, and the three powers want a Krupp included in the mass trial of Nazis charged with war conspiracy. The British opposed the motion.

Voting In Bulgaria
Goes Ahead Despite Protests Of U.S.A.

BY WILLIAM B. KING
Sofia, Bulgaria, Nov. 17 (AP)—Bulgarians will ballot tomorrow for a single slate of Fatherland Front candidates in their first national assembly elections since the war, despite a note from the United States government disapproving the elections and a new appeal from the opposition for postponement.

Ignoring the note which was based upon findings by Mark Ethridge, Louisville, Ky., publisher, and a letter in which opposition leaders warned of "heavy consequences" if the elections were held, the government issued an appeal for all supporters of the Fatherland Front to come out and vote for its national assembly slate.

The reported successes of Chinese Nationalist troops at the southern gateway to Manchuria did little to dispel the gloom here.

BANDITS GO BIG TIME

Rome, Nov. 17 (AP)—Banditry in Italy reached new heights of audacity, it was reported today, when a gang of 50 men captured the village of Gaffio Montana, in the mountains near Bologna, and held it for six hours while they took 15,000,000 lira ($150,000) from the local bank and looted homes.

UNION BLAMES
CLIQUE AT GM
FOR TROUBLESDELEGATES OF UAW
MEET TO DISCUSS
WALKOUT

Detroit, Nov. 17 (AP)—Fears that a major strike would hit the auto industry increased tonight as R. J. Thomas, president of the United Auto Workers (CIO), charged a "managerial clique" at General Motors Corp. "is in effect forcing a costly and terrible strike upon us."

Thomas' statements, published in a signed editorial in the "United Automobile Worker," official publication of the UAW, came as 200 UAW delegates representing unionized General Motors employees throughout the country gathered here to discuss possible strike action.

"God knows the top leadership of the UAW-CIO has neither sought nor wanted a collision of this kind * * * but since the beginning of the present controversy, GM has never indicated in word or deed its willingness to give an inch on wages," Thomas wrote.

General Motors company spokesmen declined any comment on Thomas' charges.

Decision Due Monday

The UAW chieftain continued in his editorial, "GM's attitude is a clear indication that the corporation is not only expecting a strike but welcomes the test of strength."

"Should there be a strike, it must be conducted on our part with complete and orderly discipline," Thomas concluded.

Publication of the editorial today came as a special six-man strategy committee, named by the International UAW to study the Detroit wage disputes, held "an informal meeting."

Walter Reuther, UAW vice-president in charge of General Motors negotiations, declared, "We discussed a number of general matters" and added, "Neither I nor anyone else knows when a strike will be called—if at all."

He declared, "No decisions will be made before Monday."

Reuther said he would submit a "full report" to the GM delegates concerning the union's efforts to obtain a general 30 per cent wage increase from General Motors and other auto manufacturers.

On Tuesday, the union and Ford Motor company will open wage conferences with advance notice from the company that it won't agree to the wage increase demanded by the union.

Detroit, Nov. 17 (AP)—Fala, the presidential Scottie, who once tried unsuccessfully to take a bride, is getting the "brushoff" from his reactionary pals.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, here to fulfill a speaking engagement, said she plans to acquire a playmate for the lonesome family pooch.

"Because of his 'democratic tendencies,'" Mrs. Roosevelt explained, "he wants to play with all the dogs he sees when he gets his airing. Sometimes the other dogs don't want to play."

Individual Bond
Sales Set Record

Detroit, Nov. 17 (AP)—Michigan residents have purchased nearly one-third of the $161,000,000 bond goal assigned to individuals in the final Victory Loan drive, State Chairman Frank N. Isbey announced Saturday.

Individual purchases in the first two and one-half weeks of the campaign exceeded those for the same period in all seven previous drives, in percentage of the quota, he said.

NEW CHEMICAL HITS HAYFEVER

Hope Also Offered For
Asthma And Migraine
Sufferers

By JANE STAFFORD
Science Service Medical Writer
Cincinnati—Good results with a chemical attack on hayfever, asthma, migraine and other allergic conditions were reported by Dr. W. Merritt Ketcham, of Kansas City, Mo., at the meeting here of the Southern Medical Association.

After one to six injections of the chemical, ethylene disulphonate, patients were relieved of most or all of their symptoms and have remained well for the six to 18 months since the treatment was given.

The idea for this chemical attack on hayfever and kindred ailments was developed by a group of British and Belgian scientists. They believed from their studies that the primary cause of allergy was a "departure from normal in the chemistry of cellular metabolism involving the absence of certain catalysts of co-enzyme activity."

Shock, either emotional or as a result of infection or injury, would cause the abnormality in cell chemistry in persons whose body cells had inherited a tendency to react in such a way to the shock.

Aids Long Sufferers
Giving the allergic patient a catalyst which would restore the "normal oxidation chain involved in the production and normal distribution of cell energy" would be the suitable treatment, the scientists reasoned. They suggested that the missing catalyst would be a short carbon chain compound having two or more unsaturated carbon linkages. A number of such chemicals were produced of which the most satisfactory seems to be ethylene disulphonate. It is not believed that this is the catalyst missing from the body in allergy but it helps the patients as if it were.

Dr. Ketcham has used it in some 200 cases during the past three years. One woman suffered from migraine for 18 years. During the past 18 months she was in bed two and three days of each week, losing five and six pounds during the 48 to 72 hours of headache. After six injections of diethylene disulphonate between April and October, she has been free of headache for a year except for one soon after the last injection, has gained 17 pounds and feels better than in years past.

Patients with year-round hayfever seldom get 100 per cent relief, but more than report 50 to 75 per cent improvement. Dr. Ketcham believes, from results with those first treated, that in another year or two the improvement in these patients will be more marked.

Those with food allergy are able to eat almost anything without trouble and all are in better health. Asthma patients are relieved of their symptoms, gain weight and are able to get over a cold or sinus infection without having an attack of asthma.

Some patients may in the future have relapses and it is always possible, Dr. Ketcham pointed out, that conditions which started the allergy may occur again and re-establish an allergic state.

Besides his own experience with ethylene disulphonate, Dr. Ketcham referred to reports of other physicians who have treated many hundreds of patients with the same satisfactory results.

Ethylene disulphonate is made by the Spicer-Corbin Company in Pasadena, Calif., but is available only to physicians for clinical research.

Lightning Action Saved Big Dam

By NEA Service
It was fitting that the 78th (Lightning) Infantry Division which, by its capture of Schwammenauel Dam, set the stage for the drive to the Rhine, was the first infantry division to cross the river—the Nazis' last great natural barrier.

Capture of the dam played an enormous part in the Allied counter offensive which followed the Battle of the Bulge. The dam, holding 22 billion gallons, was a potentially dire threat to the Allied operation. Its water, if unleashed, would have submerged hundreds of square miles of territory and could have swept away our men and equipment like matchsticks. Its capture was imperative.

The Lightning division launched its drive for the dam in midwinter, ploughing through waist-high snowdrifts, battling against pillboxes, advancing from hedgerow to hedgerow, from rubble pile to rubble pile. While the fight was still raging, engineers reached the dam and hurriedly searched it for demolition charges. At any moment, a hidden demolition might release the raging water pent inside the walls.

The dam was taken intact. It was in the gray morning of March 8, 1945, that the Lightning doughboys crossed the Ludendorff Bridge at Remagen in a hail of flying steel. The crossing marked an important turning point in the war against Germany. The "impregnable" Siegfried Line had been ripped open, the German defense along the Roer smashed, and the stage set for the final crushing Allied blow.

War Researchers Urged To Keep Pace

Dayton (AP)—The wartime extracurricular research done by American universities should be continued, in the opinion of Maj. J. G. P. Callahan, Chief of the Instrument and Navigation Branch of the Equipment Laboratory, Air Technical Service Command, at Wright Field.

Maj. Callahan, whose specialty has been the development and perfection of aircraft instruments and navigational aids, cited what he termed the "broadening results of military service, whether in this country or overseas" as "one reason why the average returning soldier will not be attracted to colleges or universities whose programs are modeled along pre-war lines."

"A single month, even one day, under certain conditions, may have given a service man the travel, contacts and experiences which he would not have gained in a lifetime, let alone four years of study," he observed. "Schools of higher learning must take all this into account. And their laboratory curricula must keep abreast of science in all its forms."

"In this day, there is nothing deader than a yesterday's textbook on physics or chemistry. What good, for instance, is one

Atomic Energy Will Not Be Substitute For Many Years

Chicago—In the atomic energy field, "a little knowledge is a dangerous thing" declared Dr. Clark Goodman of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology here at the meeting of the American Petroleum Institute. In the sweep of publicity since the atomic bomb was dropped on Hiroshima "the facts (of atomic energy) have often been ignored or hidden beneath a flood of over-enthusiastic extrapolation and speculation," he said. The tiny pellet the size of a vitamin pill to run an automobile a year is largely imaginative.

Dr. Goodman gave the petroleum engineers a factual report on atomic energy and its development in order that there might be an understanding of the present and future competition to petroleum of this new source of energy. He explained the scientific principles involved in the release of atomic power.

"The successful development of large-scale sources of atomic energy was carried out under the compelling stimulus of war," Dr. Goodman said. "Hence, military applications have preceded peacetime utilization. The construction of atomic bombs is naturally not public information. However, from the foregoing fundamental principles, it is evident that the explosive material in an atomic bomb consists of separate pieces of U-235, plutonium, or other fissionable substance—each of which is below the critical size."

"Detonation occurs practically instantaneously when the parts of the bomb are suddenly combined into a compact super-critical mass. The explosion produces an extremely rapid rise in temperature, the particles in violent motion being the nuclear fission fragments."

"All immediately surrounding materials are made incandescent, thereby producing a blinding flash, far more intense than the sun itself. The surrounding air is heated to such a degree that a fiery sphere of glowing gas rises rapidly from the scene of the explosion, and vents itself and practically all of the active materials into the stratosphere. The accompanying pressure wave and heat radiation devastate essentially everything within a radius of several miles."

"From both military and industrial points of view, it is important to realize that there are no peacetime atomic bombs. Nothing less than the critical size will work. Hence, the explosion is one of Hiroshima proportions, or none at all. It is evident that these super-explosives will necessitate revolutionary changes in modern warfare. Even more evident is the need for international understanding."

Blubber From Whales Will Expand Margarine Supply

Excited cries of "Thar she blows!" will rally men to harpoons and boats once again when the whaling season opens on November 24. England has sponsored an Antarctic whaling expedition hoping the catch will provide margarine and fat for depleted British larders.

Expedition ships are sailing for South Georgia Island off stormy Cape Horn, where the world's largest supply of whales is to be found. By international agreement all whalers are pledged to observe regulations governing the hunting season, and the number, length and kind of whale to be caught. Such restrictions are necessary because whales for many years have been slaughtered without protective measures and are threatened with extinction.

Records and traditions indicate, says the National Geographic Society, that dwellers on the shores of the Bay of Biscay—about 1575—were the earliest whalers. From that time until the advent of the steel ship and harpoon gun, whaling was one of the most dangerous, romantic, and adventurous of occupations. Ships would leave the shores of England or America, to return three or four years later with a precious cargo of whale oil and a new supply of hair-raising stories.

Larger Than Dinosaurs
Whales are the largest animals known, either living or extinct. Stories have persisted of whales upsetting ships. Even prehistoric dinosaurs could not compete with whales in size. The blue whale, largest of all, reaches a length of 108 feet and a weight of 115 tons. Ten men could stand upright in its mouth, but that is as far as they could go, for the throat is only nine inches in diameter. Because of this small opening, blue whales are limited to a diet of small crustaceans, like shrimp. As much as six barrels are eaten at one meal.

Whales can be divided roughly into two classes—baleen and toothed. Baleen whales are those from which "whale bone" is obtained. This material, not actually bone, is suspended from the roof of the whale's mouth, forming a fringe through which food is strained from the sea. Best known of the toothed variety is the sperm whale, whose teeth may weigh as much as four pounds each.

Sperm whales suffering from inflammation of the alimentary tract have deposits of oil in their heads and intestines. This oil, known as ambergris, is used as a base for costly perfumes. Other products made from whales are margarine, soap, candles, corset stays, glycerine and fertilizer. The meat can be eaten by humans.

Whale meat has been popular for years with Japan's poor. A can of it could be bought for 12 cents. One whale can provide as much meat as a herd of 125 cattle. When cooked it tastes somewhat like beef, but is not as tender.

The whale is a mammal, suckling its young and having lungs rather than gills. The lungs account for "spouting"—the act of exhaling or blowing upward a column of warm air when the whale comes to the surface to breathe. A whale can stay under water for fifteen or twenty minutes at a time, but the inevitable spout betrays its position to alert hunters.

Killed With Bomb

The old method of killing whales was dangerous for the men and agonizing for their quarry. In leave their ship. Drawing close to the whale, they hurled harpoons into it until it was dead. Now a harpoon is shot from a small cannon mounted on the ship's bow. Several seconds after lodging in the whale's flesh, a bomb attached to the blade of the harpoon explodes and death is almost instantaneous.

Whales are either brought to a shore station or are processed at sea on completely-equipped factory boats. After they are drawn aboard or onto the wharf, whales resemble the hulls of long-sunk ships; their skin is covered with barnacles and other marine organisms. Blubber (whale fat) is stripped off, chopped, and boiled for oil. Offal is ground for fertilizer, and in some cases the meat is prepared for canning.

The only whaling station in the United States is at Field's Landing, California. The company operating there attempted to introduce whale meat into war-reduced American diets. Most of those who tried it felt that beefsteak was worth waiting for.

With The Deer Hunters

Leonard Winling, Sr., Bud Winling and M-Sgt. Jack Winling left Wednesday to spend the hunting season at their camp near Northland. Clarence Courville of Lansing joined the group later. M-Sgt. Jack Winling is spending a 90-day furlough here after re-enlisting in the Air Corps.

Major L. J. Cousina, on his first trip north, filled his deer license at 11 o'clock the first day of the season with a six-point buck. Members of his party, who are hunting near Ensign, are Joe and L. J. Cousina of Erie, Burton Bluch of Temperance, Roy Plow of Erie and Rodney Chapman of Monroe.

Adolphe Berthiaume of Hendricks had unusual luck on the first day of hunting season. He went out in the morning and was back before 8 a. m. with an eight-point buck. After a lunch, he went out again, and before noon, had shot a 400 pound bear.

Dr. C. J. Corcoran joins the ranks of successful deer hunters with a 150-pound, seven-point, buck. Dr. Corcoran hunted from the Rayne Labre camp at Faunus. Robert Bosk, 16, of 306 North 14th street, reports shooting an eight-point, 160-pound buck at Danforth, about two miles from the Escanaba Ski Club. He bagged the deer early Friday morning.

Among successful hunters on the first day of the season was Frank Falcies of Cornell who bagged a seven-point buck. His bride of three weeks shot a seven-pointer on the following day.

Art Westby made a kill at his camp on highway M-69 on the first day of the season.

ROBBERY INTERRUPTED

Detroit, Nov. 17 (AP)—An armed bandit, busily engaged in tying up the women proprietor and a customer, was interrupted Saturday when three more customers entered a Royal Oak jewelry store.

At the point of his gun, the robber forced the newcomers to join Mrs. Ethel Freeman, proprietor, and the earlier customer. He bound all five with wire and escaped with $75 in cash and several trays of watches and rings.

4. If the Pearl Harbor attack failed, it was planned to bring out the remainder of the Japanese naval strength for "a decisive engagement" with the American fleet.

5. No plans were made to follow up the attack with troop landings because additional ships would have presented difficult supply problems.

DEATH TAKES L. J. BERGMAN

Former Escanaban Dies
In Detroit Of Heart
Ailment

Leslie J. Bergman, 39, well known former Escanaba resident, passed away at Grace hospital, Detroit, yesterday morning due to a heart ailment. He had been ill only one week. Before moving to Detroit nine years ago, Mr. Bergman operated a drug store in Escanaba.

He was born in Escanaba, Dec. 5, 1906, and was graduated from the Escanaba high school, class of 1924. He is survived by his wife, the former Irene Dotsch, and one son, Thomas. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Bergman, and two brothers, Herbert, of Escanaba, and Walter, of Rhinelander, also survive.

The body is being shipped to Escanaba for burial but funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Escanaba Soldier Calls Folks From Town In Holland

"Maastricht, Holland, calling. Please stand by."

Recently resumed in some parts of Europe trans-Atlantic telephone carried the voice of their son, T/5 Howard C. Peterson, to Mr. and Mrs. Howard Peterson, 227 North 16th street, here Friday night from Maastricht.

The Petersons were notified at 8:20 p. m. that the call was being made and it came through less than two hours later.

Their son chatted for some six minutes, Mrs. Peterson said, reporting that he was in good health but not enjoying the cold, damp Dutch weather. The message came in clearly and could be understood perfectly.

A member of a signal service company stationed at Namur, Belgium, T/5 Peterson has been overseas for a year, in service for three years. He reported that he would probably be home next March.

DEER HUNTERS HOPE FOR SNOW

Kill Is Light So Far;
Tracking Snow Would Be Beneficial

Lack of tracking snow is hampering the efforts of deer hunters so far this season and the kill has been light, it was reported yesterday by Paul Challancin, assistant district supervisor for the conservation department of Escanaba.

Although there are more hunters in the woods in this area than last year, the deer kill has not been up to expectations, principally because of adverse hunting conditions, conservation officers reported. A large kill had been anticipated because of the reported abundance of deer this year.

In the first few days of the season the woods were "pretty noisy" because of the dry leaves. Yesterday there was added moisture and the leaves more sodden and conditions were therefore improved.

Best conditions would result from a light and moist snowfall—a tracking snow.

Drifting Towards War

CHINESE Communists have fired upon a train bearing a contingent of United States Marines and thus the first step in American intervention in the Chinese civil war. The pattern for the second step has been outlined by Maj. Gen. Keller Rockey, commander of the Third Amphibious Corps, with his statement, "If firing continues, I will order a strafing mission against the (Communist-held) village."

Unless we are prepared to intervene in the Chinese civil war, a policy that would be fraught with tremendous danger of another bloody war involving the great nations, we had better get our Marines out of the disputed area in China as quickly as we can.

As long as the Marines are in the battle area, the danger of attack on them by the Chinese Communists exists. And if the Marines are attacked, they can do no less than to defend themselves. The inevitable result is that we would find ourselves directly in the middle of the Chinese civil war. American intervention in the Chinese mess would almost certainly lead to the intervention of other nations, including Russia, and there is no certainty that Russia's support would be swung to the Nationalists, despite Stalin's agreement with Chiang Kai-Shek.

The American policy in China must be determined only upon careful analysis of the situation and in line with the policies of other leaders in the United Nations. We should not drift into a program of armed intervention as a result of a bull-headed determination to maintain our Marines in a war-ridden area. The sensible thing to do is to withdraw our troops from the danger zone as quickly as we can.

Need Scientific Training

SINCE 1940 there have been few students over 18, except some in medicine and engineering in Army and Navy programs and a few 4-F's who have followed an integrated scientific course of studies.

Neither our allies nor, so far as we know, our enemies have done anything so radical as thus to suspend almost completely their educational activities in scientific pursuits during the war period.

In our opinion we have drawn too heavily for non-scientific purposes upon the great natural resource which resides in our trained young scientists and engineers. For the general good of the country too many such men have gone into uniform, and their talents have not always been fully utilized. With the exception of those men engaged in war research, all physically fit students at graduate level have been taken into the armed forces. Those ready for college training in the sciences have not been permitted to enter upon that training.

There is thus an accumulating deficit of trained research personnel which will continue for many years. The deficit of science and technology students who, but for the war, would have received bachelor's degrees is about 150,000. The deficit of those holding advanced degrees—that is, young scholars trained to the point where they are capable of carrying on original work—has been estimated as amounting to about 17,000 by 1955 in chemistry, engineering, geology, mathematics, physics, psychology, and the biological sciences.

With mounting demands for scientists both for teaching and for research, we will enter the postwar period with a serious deficit in our trained scientific personnel.

For The 22nd Amendment

A state legislators committee is actively taking action for the decentralizing of federal government and the re-establishing of states' rights.

"There never was and never will be a tax dollar collected that did not come out of a drop of sweat," says a committee bulletin from the office of George P. McCallum, Ann Arbor, vice chairman and treasurer. "No tax dollar was ever taken from the people that did not shorten the shirt or tighten the belt of those who toil. It may mount the horizon and circle the heavens in a halo, but taxes will finally rest upon the soil. There is no other habitat."

That is very true. Everything comes from the soil, through the hard work of men and machines. Oftentimes our politicians forget, when levying taxes, that somebody's sweat is in every dollar, and after all, what is government except the dictum of a group of politicians?

The government renders, for example, no service to a citizen at his death bed. The right to die is an inalienable right, and we may seriously question whether it should not be exempt from taxation. According to the ablest constitutional authorities, Congress has no right to levy a death tax any more than it had to levy an income tax prior to the 10th Amendment.

Now is the time for those who want to talk taxes to speak out. Many people would like to know how much longer the citizens of Michigan must put up with the state sales tax at its present three per cent rate. Bringing in enormous sums of money, it is an incentive to easy spending and all sorts of so-called "services" which would be better done without.

Now that the war is over, and the necessity for spending for destruction is past, taxes are bound to occupy the minds of the American public more and more. A start has been made in reducing governmental costs. The knife must go in a long way further before levies on the public purse and private pockets get down to the point where they belong.

Problem Is General

THE shortage of housing is not a problem strictly confined to Escanaba. It is one that afflicts almost every city of any size in the United States.

This fact is shown in a report of a survey made of 85 communities in Michigan by the state office of veterans' affairs. Particularly hard hit by the housing shortage are the returning veterans whose families have been living with "in-laws" but now want homes of their own.

The Grand Rapids Press attributes the lag in new home building to scarcity of building materials and labor, OPA pricing policies and various other factors. It points out that now the situation threatens to become even more complicated through legislation which would limit to $8,000 the cost of a home that could be built with the aid of a government insured loan.

The Grand Rapids Press adds: "A further factor entering into the situation is that housing on which too low a cost limit is placed would not interest builders and suppliers. After the last war, when there was also an unprecedented demand for housing, builders concentrated largely on homes in the higher price brackets for families of the well-to-do. The chief problem of the present postwar era is to produce more medium priced shelter and it is feared that again this field will be neglected."

"A $5,000 top on construction would not be an inducement to the building industry as long as plenty of business is available in the higher brackets. Congress should seriously consider whether this feature of the housing legislation would not defeat attempts to make more and better homes available to veterans and others who are in desperate need of them."

NELSON PROMOTED

(Iron Mountain News)

Promotion of Walter G. Nelson, who has been director of operations at the Ford plant at Iron Mountain, to have charge of all the company's operations in the upper peninsula is a recognition of sound service he has given the company in the 21 years of his association with it. Most of this service has been given in Iron Mountain, to which he came to take a position in the chemical division of the plant in this city. As all the work entrusted to him was well done and as he displayed in carrying it on executive ability and a capacity to maintain good relations with fellow officials and the rank and file of workers, he was marked as, sooner or later, a probable head of plant operations.

It was his good fortune and the company's good fortune that he had oversight of the plant when it underwent conversion for production for war. When the Ford company canvassed the question of possible use in war of the Iron Mountain plant, it reached decision that it would do a good job in production of gliders.

Contracts for them were sought and obtained. Oversight of the task of reconversion was handed on to Mr. Nelson. The plant was soon ready and the personnel entered on training for the new work. Direction and workmanship both were sound, with result that the plant was early credited with production of a superior product. Where it went and just what was done with it was one of the secrets of the war. But it was shipped all over the world. Continuance of production even up to V-J day indicated that much of the product had been shipped to the Pacific against the day of its probable use in the landings on the Japanese home islands, in China, or both.

Since V-J day the plant has been in process of another conversion, this one to adapt it to production for peace. It will again make station wagon bodies for the Ford company, and no doubt other products. One of the best promises of its continued operation is the assurance that it will continue to be directed by Mr. Nelson. He has shown that he can make it click.

World Events Analyzed

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington — The three men who sat facing reporters in the sunny office of the president in the White House had momentous news to give to the world.

They were all average men—the Britisher, Attlee, the Canadian, King, and the American, Truman. The slow working of Democracy had put on them at this moment of history a responsibility such as few men have ever had before.

There was a certain tension in the room. But the principals in the drama were not, by temperament, inclined to dramatic effect. It was a quiet, unobtrusive performance.

What the three men had arrived at seemed sensible and workmanlike. It was an approach to cooperation. Following on a nightmare period, when a race with atomic weapons appeared to have begun, it offered some hope.

—DEPENDS ON COMMISSION—

The concept of a commission under the United Nations organization to frame a working method of cooperation, before the specialized information on the practical application of atomic energy should be given out, had a reasonable sound. It is hard to see how anyone could quarrel with it.

Everything, of course, depends on the commission. If it succeeds, then the way is open not only to restrict atomic energy to peaceful uses, but to proceed with disarmament on other levels. Point No. 3 recommended to the commission is:

"For the elimination from national armaments of atomic weapons and of all other major weapons adaptable to mass destruction."

The last part of that sentence is particularly significant. It would surely cover the super-bomber. Mass fire raids by B-29s over Tokyo caused as many deaths in an hour or two as the atomic bombs dropped on Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

Logically, the commission should begin first to promote the exchange of scientific information and the exchange of scientists between countries. That cannot begin too soon to break down the barriers of suspicion that have been growing up.

—COSMIC RAY DISCOVERIES—
Out of Moscow this week came a news story of new cosmic ray discoveries by Russian scientists. It told of complicated apparatus used to photograph changes in the sun's rays not hitherto observed.

It credited these discoveries to one of the principles in the atomic drama who has thus far been off stage. He is Peter Kapitza, Soviet Russia's chief nuclear physicist.

Kapitza's life story weaves in much of the history of our time. Before the revolution in Russia in 1917, he was a brilliant young scientific student, the son of a Czarist general. From 1919 to 1921 he was a lecturer in the Leningrad Polytechnical Institute.

Then he turned against Bolshevism and fled as a refugee to England. Given a fellowship at Cambridge University, Kapitza advanced rapidly under the tutelage of Britain's great physicist, Ernest Rutherford. He became assistant director of magnetic research in the Cavendish laboratory.

In the twenties he established connections with Russian scientists, and a little later he returned to the Soviet Union for a visit. Kapitza was never allowed to go back to England even though, according to one story that may be apocryphal, Lady Astor—in her famous visit to Moscow—pleaded on his knees with Maxim Litvinov for his return.

In June of this year, some of his former colleagues and friends from Cambridge saw Kapitza in Moscow. The occasion was the 220th anniversary of the Russian Academy of Science. They found him, somewhat to their surprise, a convinced communist.

Kapitza should be invited to England and America. Our nuclear physicists should go to Moscow. These exchanges will have nothing to do with political ideologies. They will mark the renewal of the kind of scientific interchange that was interrupted by the war. It is on such a base that confidence must be built so that the commission can take the other essential steps.

imperfect attempt, in the Middle Ages, to reproduce the sound of the new French word "sur," the vowel sound of which does not occur in English. (The "u" is a blending of "oo" and "ee", exactly like the German umlaut "ü"). This may also account for the "sh" sound in the word "sugar" which originally had the French spelling of "sure."

Fort Bragg: Please settle an argument. I say that the word "equipment" is pronounced "ce-KWIP-age." Right?—Pic. S.
Answer: Sorry. The accent falls on the first syllable, and the third syllable rhymes with "ridge," thus: EK-vi-pidge.

Youngstown: Where did we get the queer but expressive word "shamefaced"? A. H.

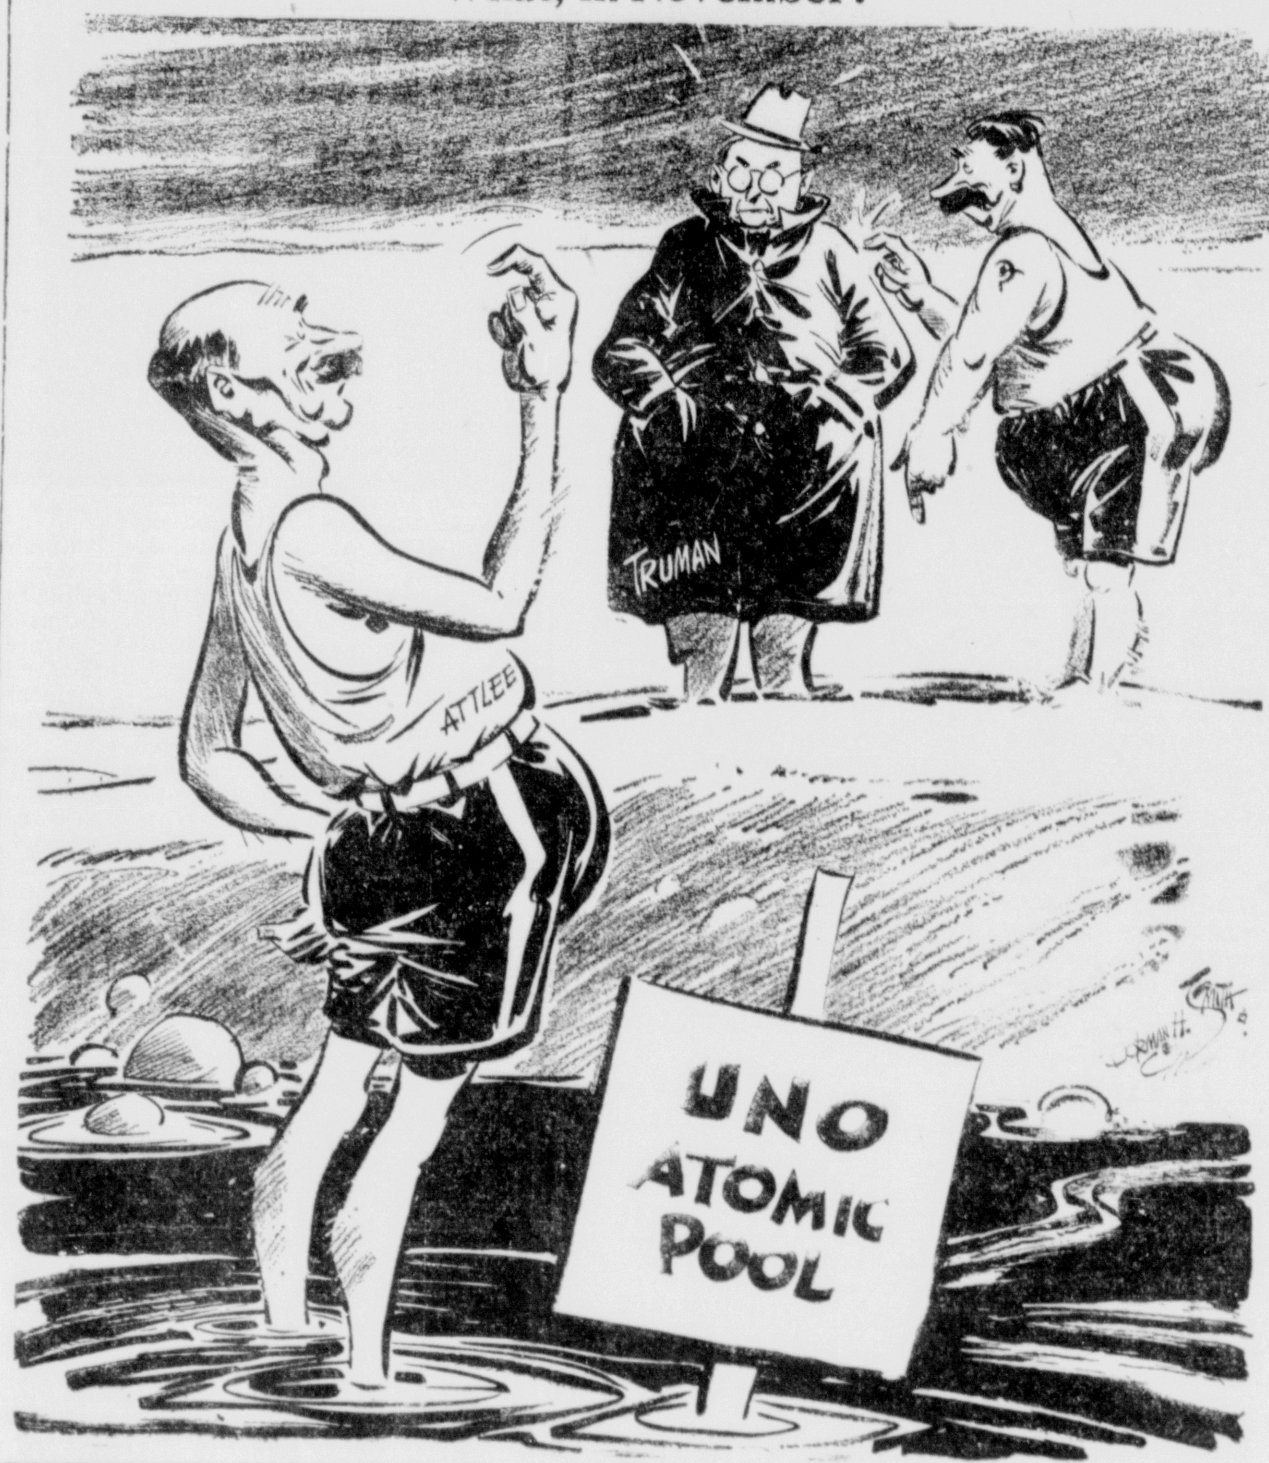

Answer: It is a corruption of "shamefast," an obsolete word meaning "modest, bashful."

Louisville: What is meant by "The die is cast"?—Mrs. R. D.

Answer: A die is cast means that a decision has been made which cannot be recalled, as a throw of the dice. The expression is of a great antiquity. Plutarch (A. D. 46-120) explained it thus: "Using the proverb frequently in their mouths who enter upon dangerous and bold attempts."

OLD AS HUNTING—The hunting accident is as old as the sport of hunting itself. History has no record of the first hunting accident, but it was probably the day some beetle-browed Neanderthal gentleman knocked his good friend and neighbor on the head under the impression that he was swatting a saber-toothed tiger.

This incident undoubtedly created quite a stir among the cave dwellers for a couple of days. Then they shrugged their shoulders, made proper expressions of grief to the bereaved family, and clapped the gentleman with the club on the back and said, "Don't take it so hard, old man. After all, accidents will happen, you know."

Accidents will happen—but when they happen too often there is likely to be suspicion instead of sympathy, indignation rather than indifference. Perhaps the time has come in Michigan for the adoption of a different public attitude toward "hunting accidents."

Perhaps if the public demanded that officials fully investigate such accidents, and prosecute where the facts warranted prosecution, there might be fewer hair-trigger hunters.

ON THE JOB—To keep the record straight, there has been no laxity in investigation of hunting accidents or the prosecution of careless hunters in Delta county in recent years. In fact Delta county is one of the few counties in the state where the officials make a thorough examination. Last year one man received a probationary term in circuit court, and this year another circuit court manslaughter case will be heard as the result of an unfortunate hunting accident.

FRIEND SHOTS FRIEND—It can be conservatively stated that no hunter at the time he shoots intends to kill a man. This is proved by the number of accidents in which friend shoots friend, or relatives shoot a member of their own family. The charge that the hunting season in Northern Michigan is a "season for murder" is untrue. The fatalities are the result of accidents.

224 YEARS AGO—Back in the year 1721 Father Charlevoix was sent on a mission of inspection to French North America by the French government. While ascending the St. Joseph river in Lower Michigan, the Jesuit priest and his companions camped for the night on the river bank.

It was a warm night and Father Charlevoix could not sleep, and decided to go for a walk. He was followed by a dog, and the priest threw a stick into the river and the dog plunged in to retrieve it.

The noise was heard by the men in the camp, one of whom was described as an "irresponsible nitwit." Believing the sound was that of a deer in the water, one of the men ordered the "nitwit" to stay in camp and set out to shoot the deer with a rifle loaded "with three balls." He crept up on Father Charlevoix and was about to shoot when the priest called out:

"Do you think I am a bear?"

The Jesuit walked over to the man to find him speechless and trembling at the thought of how close he had come to killing the noted missionary and historian.

the hunting accident is the result of a case of mistaken identity. There have been accidents, however, which were the result of mixing bullets with bottles.

Last year in Pennsylvania a man was shot through the head by a member of his deer hunting party, and without careful investigation it might have been marked off as simply another one of those unfortunate incidents.

Officers investigating the case, however, were amazed to find that the men were target shooting, not hunting when the accident occurred.

After emptying a number of beer bottles, the hunters decided to play William Tell and took turns balancing beer bottles on their heads for the other members of the party to shoot at.

One of the hunters shot a little too low, and instead of hitting an empty bottle hit an empty head.

BROWN AND WHITE—Hunters have been cautioned not to wear brown and white clothing while in the woods. Rather they are urged to wear red.

While the wearing of red is to be recommended, there are some hunters who blaze away at anything of any color and any shape. Apparently they are under the impression that in the woods anything that moves is a deer.

It was this class of hunter who a few years back shot at a CCC truck moving along a back-country road, wounding three of the CCC boys riding inside. Another hunter of this same color-blind class shot at an outhouse on a Chippewa county farm and the rifle bullet took a nick out of the farmer's ear. The man who fired the shot was never identified.

G. I. VETERANS SERVICE

Q. Can the alien wife of a serviceman who contracted a proxy marriage be admitted into this country under the non quota system?

A. No.

Q. My husband is in service and receives less than $1500 service pay which I know is tax-exempt. I am employed and would like to claim my mother as a dependent. She receives a family allowance of $50 per month from my husband as a Class B-1 dependent. May I claim her as a dependent for income purposes?

A. Since her income from the allowance is $600 per year, you may not claim her as a dependent. The test for DEPENDENT is that the claimant contribute more than one-half of the dependent's support and the dependent must not have an income in excess of $500 per year.

OF GENERAL INTEREST

Q. When was the first regular bathtub installed in the White House?

A. In 1851, when President Millard Fillmore's wife introduced the bathing practice in the Executive Mansion as a preventive against malaria. Tradition, however, indicates that Dolly Madison had a crude bathtub in the White House and that Andrew Jackson had it removed.

Q. When was the first advertisement printed in a periodical in this continent?

A. The first advertisement appeared May 1-8, 1704 in the Boston News-Letter when a mill, plantation and house were offered for sale at Oyster Bay on Long Island in the "Province of New York." The same issue contained two other advertisements, one offering a reward for the capture of a thief and return of certain wearing apparel and the other was the loss of two anvils.

Q. When did President Wilson announce his famous "Fourteen Points"?

A. In an address before a joint session of Congress Jan. 8, 1918.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Q. Can DDT powder be used for controlling cockroaches?

A. Treat their hiding places with a 10-per cent DDT powder. It is about as good as sodium fluoride and lasts longer. It takes about a week to start the surrender of this species. As an extra measure use a 5-per cent DDT spray on the underside of table tops, drawers, shelves, etc.

Q. What is a good way to remove excess grease from meat stock?

A. Drop a few ice cubes in it; the grease will congeal on the cubes which then may be removed.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington—A special committee of Congress ought to be appointed just to watch the House Judiciary committee. More legislation designed to rob the taxpayer and harm the public interest is reported out of that committee than almost any other in Congress. Here is the latest.

House Bill 2788, just reported out of the Judiciary committee, would limit to a period of one year the time in which the Federal government could prosecute various criminal acts. In other words, if a violator of the law could get away with it and remain undetected for one year after the transgression, the statute of limitations would have run, and he couldn't be prosecuted.

For instance, the proposed law provides that if anyone defrauds the government in disposing of surplus property, he can't be prosecuted after one year. It is already evident that surplus property is going to be one of the biggest sources of scandal in recent history, and it would be impossible for even J. Edgar Hoover to track down all irregularities in one year.

The Judiciary committee also proposes that if the director of a National bank violates the law and can get away with it for one year, he can't be prosecuted after that.

The same is true of copyright infringement, violation of civil rights statutes, fraud in registration of public lands, and violation of the wage-hour act. The latter case is particularly interesting. An employer could wilfully violate the wage-hour law knowing that if he gets caught, all he will have to do is pay a fine for that one year. Yet he might have been violating the law for three, four or five years. Such a provision, according to labor department officials, would be an open invitation to employers to thumb their noses at the wage-hour act.

Yet the House Judiciary committee solemnly recommended passage of the bill. It is now up to the full house and the senate.

—TRUMAN'S HABERDASHERY PAST—

President Truman didn't say anything about it, but he seemed a bit miffed at being ribbed so unmercifully at the National Press club dinner over his past career as a haberdashery salesman. It must be admitted that some of the professional comics rubbed it in pretty hard. Eddie Cantor was one of them.

"It's nice having a haberdashery in Kansas City," the radio comic told his audience of cabinet members, Supreme Court justices, and newsmen. "But why bring it to Washington? This afternoon I dropped in to see the president, and as soon as I stepped into the White House, there was a statue of George Washington dressed in a pair of long underwear marked down to $1.98."

"The president's secretary, Matt Connelly walked up to me—very fancy—and said, 'The president will see you now in the bargain basement.'"

"So I went down to the basement. No sooner did I take off my coat than the president was measuring me for another one. I said, 'Mr. President, I don't want a coat. I just want the honor of meeting you.' Then I made the mistake of sticking out my hand. Before I could pull it back, he'd sold me a pair of gloves. I'm not complaining. Some of the things I bought I can use. I say some of the things what I'm gonna do with three dozen supreme court justice's robes, I don't know."

"Incidentally, we have five supreme court justices with us tonight; and I wonder if they realize how lucky they are to be supreme court justices. With those long black robes, they're the only ones who can sneak into work hiding a copy of 'Forever Amber.'"

—WHITE HOUSE CHAFF—

Seen and heard around the White House—Gen. Harry Vaughan, the president's military aide, standing in front of the executive office, hatless, an odd-looking silver cream pitcher in his hands, feeding the squirrels. Ambassador Joe Davies rides up to the White House in a dashing maroon limousine. Pinned to the inside of the door is a radio schedule by which Joe never misses his favorite programs. Paunchy Bill Green strides into the White House. The sleeves of Green's well-cut jackets always look too short, like hand-me-downs. Frank Walker, the former postmaster general, surveys the fresh-painted facade of the executive mansion, remarks, "they've gotten snooty and repainted the place since I was here last."

Col. Charlie Polletti, New York's former Lieutenant governor, ambles in to visit with Judge Sam Rosenman. Polletti may run for New York's governorship next year, but will not do so if Senator Jim Mead is a candidate. Sidney Hillman leaves the White House with a labor delegation to pose for pictures, turns around, walks back in to visit with friends of the Roosevelt ERA. Young Franklin Roosevelt Jr. enters with Henry Morgenthau, lunches with the new president. Just the day before, young Roosevelt and a group of veterans cooled their heels for 45 minutes outside Mayor LaGuardia's office in City Hall, New York, trying to appeal to the Little Flower to help veterans find housing. But he couldn't even get inside the mayor's office.

DEER 'SHINERS' FLOUTING LAW

Officers Feel Growing Concern Over Night Hunting Here

Increasing activity of the night hunter who uses an artificial light to help him kill deer, either in season or out, is the cause of growing concern among law enforcement officers of Delta county.

Starting last summer and continuing through to the present, the "shiners" have been flouting the law more openly than in the past several years, according to observations by officers and residents of the county. Cows and horses have been killed in pastures and at Stonington and in other sections of the county. Shots have been fired in the vicinity of rural dwellings, and a number of persons have been arrested for headlighting in the county during the past few months.

Michigan law prohibits the possession of headlights in the woods, or any other artificial light which may be used for "shining" deer.

This includes the use of headlights or spotlights on automobiles, which are sometimes used in illegal night hunting. The eyes of a deer glow in the darkness, reflecting the light, and offer a target for the game law violator.

In many of the arrests made in the county the poachers also violated the law by having loaded firearms in their cars. It is unlawful to transport or have in possession firearms except a pistol or revolver unless they are unloaded in both the barrel and magazine, and for most of the year the firearms must also be taken down or enclosed in a case.

It is unlawful to carry a rifle in any area frequented by deer during the closed season without a permit.

Push Button War Is Seen

Says American Cities Could Be Destroyed From Embassies

WASHINGTON—A new kind of pushbutton war through use of atomic bombs is visualized by Dr. E. U. Condon, newly named director of the National Bureau of Standards and technical adviser to the Senate's Atomic Energy committee.

The possibility of the diplomatic representatives of a foreign nation bringing atomic bombs piece-meal into the country under cover of diplomatic immunity, assembling them clandestinely, and then blowing the hearts out of all the leading American cities, is visualized by Dr. Condon, in an article in the current issue of Army Ordnance, written as Westinghouse associate research director, before he was given his government position.

"The next war should be described as the War of the Push-buttons," Dr. Condon said. "For the atomic bombs are such small and simple devices that it is easy to visualize agents of an enemy nation bringing them in small pieces, under cover of diplomatic immunity, and assembling them quietly in the closets or back rooms of their embassies and consular offices in our chief cities."

"Then when the decision to make war is reached, the ruler of the enemy nation has merely to say the word, and his agents in our country touch off the dozen or two bombs so planted in each of our major cities. And within minutes the entire hearts of each of

Job Shop Sold By Daily Press

Space Will Be Utilized For FM Radio Broadcast Station

The Escanaba Daily Press job printing department which has been operated by the Escanaba Daily Press since the establishment of the newspaper in 1909, has been sold to Ray Richards and the stock and equipment has been transferred to the Richards Printing company, 500 Ludington street, it has been announced.

The sale of the job printing department was made by the Escanaba Daily Press to provide necessary space for the establishment of a frequency modulation radio station, application for which has been pending before the Federal Communications Commission for several months.

Richards has been superintendent of the Gladstone Delta Reporter printing department for several years and has been a member of the Delta Reporter printing staff since 1928, when he was graduated from the Escanaba high school.

Approval by the FCC of the Escanaba Daily Press application for an FM radio station is expected shortly and plans are well advanced for the installation of the radio equipment and studios.

Frequency modulation broadcasting permits a clarity of reception that is not possible in the conventional AM broadcast bands. FM broadcasting results in freedom from natural static, suppression of local interference, high fidelity reception that covers the full range of the scale audible to the human ear, the elimination of scrambling of programs from two or more stations, and a service range that is virtually the same by day as by night.

Sand Point Road Block Traps Youths Who Made Escape

Munising—After putting a road block on the Sand Point road Friday evening city and state police succeeded in catching Jack Stephens and Dan Dewey, two sixteen year old youths who broke out of the county jail Thursday evening around 8 p. m.

A report was given to the city police that the two boys were seen around the Sand Point road and when officers went to investigate they found what they thought was Clement's car, stolen Thursday evening after the boys had broken jail. Upon investigating the car they found that it had a Lower Michigan license and believed it belonged to hunters that were staying in near by cabins.

After a second report was received, city patrolman Urban Trombley and State trooper Graham Peebles went over near the Tannery location and blocked the road. A short time later a pick-up driven by an unidentified youth drove up to where the road was blocked and attempted to get by. When Trombley looked in the truck Stephens and Dewey were attempting to conceal their identity but when asked to show their faces were recognized by the patrolman.

The youths, after taking the Clement car had driven to Newberry and while there had thrown the license plates off the Clement car away and had stole a set of Lower Michigan license off a hunters car, Peebles said. They returned to Munising the following morning, which was Friday.

Chicago—Trial of nicotinic acid, the anti-pellagra vitamin, as a remedy for malarial headache is advised by Lt. Comdr. Meyer A. Zelig, of the Navy Medical Corps, in a report to the Journal of the American Medical Association here.

This headache is the most common and most disturbing symptom afflicting servicemen with chronic malaria during the interval between attacks of the disease he found from experience at the Marine Barracks, Klamath Falls, Ore.

The patient usually wakes up with the headache which gets better after he has been up a few hours. Exercise, especially in the hot sun, however, almost always brings on severe headache. If the headache persists for a prolonged period, the patient may develop mild mental depression and seclusiveness, loses interest and cannot stand physical exertion.

WED IN CALIFORNIA—SK 2/c Betty Voght, WAVES, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth E. Voght, became the bride of Lt. William Bisdee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bisdee, at a ceremony in Santa Cruz, Calif., on Nov. 4. Following their discharge from the Navy, Lt. and Mrs. Bisdee will reside in Escanaba.

Betty Voght,
Lt. Wm. Bisdee
Married In West

A California wedding of much interest here took place on Nov. 4 when Miss Betty Jane Voght of Harrisburg, Pa., became the bride of Lt. William J. Bisdee of Escanaba. Miss Voght, SK 2/c WAVES, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth E. Voght of New York City, former residents of this city. Lt. Bisdee is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Bisdee, 522 Second avenue south.

The couple exchanged vows before the Rev. E. Snow at the Episcopal church in Santa Cruz, Calif.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of white satin with sweetheart neckline and leg o'mutton sleeves which came to a point above the wrist. Her veil was gathered in a coronet of orange blossoms, and she carried a bridal bouquet of cerise anemones. She was escorted down the aisle by Clifford Kilfoyle.

Matron of honor was Mrs. D. Walslegel, who wore a gown of blue lace with a corsage of gardenias. Mrs. Clifford Kilfoyle was the bridesmaid. She wore a gown of grey crepe with gardenias also. Lt. D. Walslegel was the best man.

Following the ceremony, a dinner was served at the Hotel Santa Cruz. The young couple left later for a wedding trip to a California mountain resort.

The bride has served in the WAVES since August, 1944, and has been stationed at a Navy Supply depot in Mechanicsburg, Pa. Before entering service, she attended Northern State Teachers' college at Marquette.

Lt. Bisdee has been in the Navy since Oct. 1943. He was graduated from Grand Rapids University, and was associated with his father in the Groos Drug store before entering service.

Following their discharge from the service, Lt. and Mrs. Bisdee will make their home in Escanaba.

Miss Marie Markert
Is Engaged To Wed

Stambaugh—Mr. and Mrs. William A. Markert, Stambaugh, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Marie Markert, former Michigan winter queen and upper Michigan's "Queen of the North," to First Lieut. Paul W. Fellman, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Fellman, Montreal, Wis. The wedding will take place here in December.

Lieut. Fellman, a photo interpreter with the Air Force, and who for many months was attached to RAF in London, was recently discharged.

Miss Markert, clerk in the office of the Iron county health department was about a year ago honorably discharged from the WAVES, in which she served about a year. A graduate of Stambaugh High, class of 1941, the bride-to-be attended Northern State college and later enrolled at Ferris Institute, Big Rapids, where she enlisted in the WAVES.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Larson, 1420 Lake Shore Drive, and their daughter, Dorothy, have left for Chicago and Milwaukee where they will visit over the weekend.

Miss Alice Harwood, 408 South Tenth street, left yesterday for Chicago where she will visit for a week.

Mrs. Nick Colopos, who has been at Sault Ste. Marie visiting with relatives for two and a half months, will return tomorrow night to reside with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Chapek, 808 Ludington street. Her daughter, Connie, will return with her.

Cadet Nurse Jean Rosenquist who attends Mt. Sinai hospital in Chicago, is visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mount Rosenquist, 1114 Eighth Avenue South. She will be here for the weekend.

Yeoman 3/c Ed Hurley, Old State Road, arrived home last night to spend a 48-hour leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Hurley. He is stationed at Great Lakes, Ill.

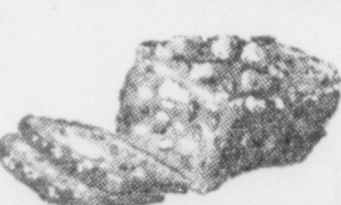

Pfc. Albert Anderson has been discharged from the army and is residing with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chris Anderson, 1008 North 16th street. He has been in the service two years and has served 15 months overseas.

Mrs. H. W. Long is leaving today for Phoenix, Ariz., where she will visit her son, Marshall, and his family.

T/Sgt. George Embs, who was recently discharged from the army following his return to the United States after a year in Europe, is here at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Embs, 616 South Eighth street. He landed in New York a short time ago and was discharged last week at Camp Grant, Ill.

Many Interesting
Hands Are Played
At Bridge League

BY L. W. OLSON

With the deer hunting season on in full swing the attendance at the weekly duplicate bridge game of the Delta Bridge League was composed mostly of women members of the club. There were ten tables of players in attendance and it was certainly a gala night for interesting hands.

Members were on time in entering and play started promptly at 8:15 p. m. Let me urge you once again that you should plan on being at the Elks lodge room promptly at 8 o'clock. We are playing more boards and that makes it imperative that we get started with the play not later than 8:15 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Howe did very well in the tournament in Chicago, coming home with third place in the open pair event. They received a total of eleven master points which makes them National Junior Master players. Congratulations to Bert and Babe on your fine showing in this difficult competition. We hope that in your next try you will walk off with first place and bring this honor back to Escanaba.

Pairs scoring 50 percent or more in last Friday's session were as follows:

1. Mrs. J. L. Temby and Mrs. L. W. Olson—62.20.

2. Mr. and Mrs. H. Needham—60.41.

3. Mrs. W. Menke and Mrs. D. R. Remington—59.02.

4. Mrs. C. E. Johnson and Mrs. A. Erickson—56.08.

5. Mr. and Mrs. J. Richards—55.55.

Today's Recipes

Venison Head Cheese

If you wish to can the meat off the bones of the deer, you can make delicious head cheese. For half the bones take four pigs feet; for all the bones, eight pigs feet. Cover well with water and do not add any more to it and boil until the meat comes off bones. Take out and cool and strain off water. Put it back in the kettle and after the meat is taken from the bone, cut in small pieces, put it back in the water and salt and pepper. Add two cups of vinegar for all the meat; let boil half an hour. Put in bowls, let stand over night in cool place. Now it is ready to serve.

Drusilla Hanson, Edward Kwarciany Wed At Bark River

Miss Drusilla Hanson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Hanson of Bark River became the bride of Edward Kwarciany, son of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Kwarciany of Bark River at a ceremony performed on Nov. 3. The marriage took place in the rectory of St. George's church with the Rev. Fr. Neil Stehlin officiating.

The bride wore a gown of white satin with full-length train. Her finger-tip veil was gathered in a crown of seed pearls, and she carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums and white roses.

Attending the bride were Miss Helen McLeod of Milwaukee, maid of honor, and Miss Anne Gorski of Chicago, who was bridesmaid. Both attendants wore gowns of pink, with matching hats and carried bouquets of yellow and pink chrysanthemums and roses.

Edward Gorski of Chicago was the best man, and Emil Skrobak of Bark River was the usher.

Mrs. Hanson chose a dress of black jersey print for her daughter's wedding, and Mrs. Kwarciany wore a dress of black. Both mothers were harmonizing corsages.

Following the ceremony, a wedding supper was served at the Chicken Shack. The couple left later for a trip to Chicago, the bride wearing for traveling, a dress of pink wool with brown accessories. Mr. and Mrs. Kwarciany will make their home in Bark River.

Church Events

Robert Gessner Heads New Motion Picture Foundation

Headed by Professor Robert Gessner of New York University, a newly established Motion Picture Foundation for colleges and universities aims to acquaint students of institutions of higher learning with the technique and aesthetics of motion pictures and to stimulate student productions on 16 mm. sound film.

Only two institutions at present, New York University and the University of Southern California, have departments of motion pictures but Harvard, Amherst and Smith College for Women have expressed enthusiasm about the foundation's work and an interest in establishing such departments.

Famous Sponsors
Sponsored by such notables in the motion picture, dramatic and literary fields as Burgess Meredith, Paulette Goddard, Orson Welles, Dudley Nichols, Lewis Milestone and John Steinbeck, the foundation expects that its assistance of motion pictures into colleges and universities as part of their liberal arts programs.

In addition to offering assistance in selecting qualified instructors in motion picture departments, the Foundation will supply each college which creates such departments with the essentials for 16 mm. sound production.

The foundation stipulates, however, that each college or university workshop is to produce in the course of an academic year at least one sound film of not less than one reel of 400 feet, the subject of which the students in the workshop have themselves chosen. The Foundation is to make available annually for an agreed period to each workshop a sum of money sufficient to defray the expenses of the student-chosen film.

Annual Conference
An annual national conference will be held in June each year to enable students and instructors to exchange ideas and experience. It is the eventual aim of the social will follow, with Mrs. Paul Rademacher and her committee in charge.

Rosary Crusade
The Rosary Crusade will meet this week at St. Patrick's church on Tuesday between 3 and 4 o'clock.

Early History Of Ford Company In U. P. Is Reviewed

IRON MOUNTAIN—Highlights of the early activities of the Ford Motor company in the Upper Peninsula were reviewed in a talk in Kingsford high school by Miss Jennie Folley, who for 25 years was employed by the late Edward G. Kingsford, the man responsible for Henry Ford's decision to locate his plant in Dickinson county.

"It is a privilege to talk to a group in the auditorium of a school named after the man for whom I worked for 25 years," Miss Folley said. Reviewing the early activities of the company in the area, it purchased, she said, the extensive holdings of the Michigan Iron Land and Lumber company, 25 years ago.

"While the plant was started 25 years ago, I would like to tell you about an incident, in 1919, which I believe had considerable bearing on its location here," Miss Folley said.

"In June of that year the late Mr. Kingsford received a long distance call from Henry Ford, who asked him to join his party—Harvey Firestone—on a camping trip to New England states. Mr. Kingsford was reluctant to go because business was heavy. We sold at least 300 cars a year in those days and that was big business. But he did go. On the trip possibility of locating in the Upper Peninsula was discussed.

Land Purchase
"During 1919, the company purchased some 400,000 acres of timber, iron and agricultural lands in the peninsula. The tract was originally owned by a British lord and a group of Bostonians.

"Early in 1920 a site for a plant was purchased. The land was formerly our favorite 'patch' for blueberries, and in East Kingsford, now a residential district, we used to pick berries.

"The surveying of the land was started in July of 1920, when R. V. Dudley and H. E. Carlin came from the Detroit office. I remember Mr. Dudley asking me to hire a rodmann. At the time I did not even know the duties of a rodmann—but I found one. A few days later I was asked to hire 50 men. I walked down the main street of Iron Mountain and hired the first 50 men I saw. Several of the first 50 are still employed at the plant.

"By September, 1920, the sawmill building was ready for the installation of machinery. In the fall of that year about 10,000,000 feet of logs were purchased. Everything seemed to be going along nicely, until January of 1921 when orders were issued to discharge all but four men. This was impossible. The logs were soon to be delivered. A crew of men, sufficient to handle them, was retained.

"In the late spring of 1921, more men were hired. The mill and power house were completed and operation of the plant was started. Later the dry kilns, body plant, maintenance building and the chemical plant were set up.

"The first four or five years of operation of the plant were busy years. More timber lands were purchased. Mining was started, the holdings of the Stearn and Culver company were purchased, as was the Hebbard mill at Pequaing.

"As the activities at the plant increased houses were built and the village of Kingsford developed. The village was organized Nov. 16, 1923, with J. A. Minnear as the first president."

Students Compete For Flags In Victory Loan

Students of public and parochial schools have the opportunity to compete in the current Victory Loan drive for the highest possible award—invasion flags which were to be worn by American soldiers in battles in Europe, the Pacific and Asia.

These flags have been received by Charles Hammar, chairman of the Delta county War Finance Committee, and have been displayed in the schools of Escanaba and Gladstone. They will also be shown in other schools in the county.

The students who sell the largest value in Victory Bonds during the present drive will receive the flags as awards, Chairman Hammar explained. Frank N. Isbey, chairman of the Michigan War Finance committee, has informed Chairman Hammar that:

"These flags have been allotted to you and the school authorities have been notified that these will be in your hands, they must not under any circumstances be used for any other program. This is the most valuable thing that we have and for no amount of money are we able to secure any more for distribution."

The "Chinese flags" were worn by American troops in China proper and the plain American flags were used in the European theater of operations and was the original paratrooper's flag. They were worn by paratroopers in the invasion of Africa and Europe.

Another American flag, one which is written messages in seven different languages, was used by American troops in the Asiatic theater of operation. The writing in Japanese tells the Japs to treat the American wearer of this flag as a prisoner of war.

"This is the highest award that any student can receive because of the intrinsic value, as part of the flags were returned to this country from the Asiatic and European theaters of operations," Chairman Hammar has been informed.

The student in the county selling Victory bonds of the largest value will receive one each of the three different types of flags. Those in second, third and fourth places will receive two flags, one American and one Chinese. Those in places from fifth to tenth, inclusive, will receive one flag.

A special citation for school children who have sold $500 in series E bonds or made ten individual sales, or who have done outstanding work in behalf of the drive, also will be issued by the school. The decision on eligibility will be made by the school.

Proksch Contracts Cancelled by Ford

Two large construction projects for the Ford Motor company under contract to A. H. Proksch, Iron River general contractor have been suspended indefinitely and Mr. Proksch has moved his equipment off the jobs to his yards in Iron River.

Cancellation orders came through this week and Mr. Proksch closed the projects and laid off a crew of 80 men.

Work was well along with the building of a hydro-electric plant at Big Bay, Marquette county, and also at Munising where a saw-mill was being built.

No explanation was offered although the shutdown is believed to be related to current labor troubles faced by the Ford company.

SPUDS GO 614 BUSHELS ACRE

J. D. Robinson, Pellston, Hangs Up Another Good Record

Pellston—Despite more favorable growing conditions throughout the season, potatoes didn't yield as well for J. D. Robinson, local "spud king," as they did in 1944 when the weather was less favorable.

His best field went 614 bushels per acre, compared to 692 bushels last year. The potatoes were of the Russet Rural variety, grown from certified seed.

"Most people will probably be surprised to learn that I had to irrigate my potatoes eight times this year," said Robinson. "We had to keep the pumps going long hours in July and early August. If we hadn't, we wouldn't have obtained the yield we did. We had a drought in July."

Exlawyer and Teacher Honored several times as Michigan's premier potato grower, Robinson confided that he is planning to take a trip into the upper peninsula, perhaps in 1946, to see how the growers around Rock,

Marquette and Houghton get their big yields. An upper peninsula farmer nosed him out of the 1944 spud kingship with an all-time state record yield of 714 bushels per acre.

"I thought surely my yield of 682 bushels—the largest in my lifetime—would certainly be tops, but it wasn't," said Robinson.

A graduate of the University of Michigan law school, Robinson quit the legal profession to teach school and left the classroom to manage the Pellston Co-operative association.

He turned farmer and found fame raising potatoes under irrigation on a farm west of this village.

DEER HUNTER WOUNDED

Iron Mountain — Donald MacGregor, 53, of 5320 Seminole avenue, Detroit, is a patient in Iron Mountain General hospital, where he was brought at noon today, suffering from a bullet wound in his right thigh.

Dr. W. H. Huron, who is attending him, said the wound was not serious but that MacGregor would be held a day or so for observation.

MacGregor was hit by a fragment of a bullet fired by his hunting partner, Arthur Gagnon, 913 West Hughitt, who brought him to the hospital and then reported the accident to the state police.

Missionary To Tell Of Internment Camp

The annual missionary Christmas program will be presented in Bethel Free church Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock and Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock and Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Dr. O. S. Hult and two other members of his party who are at the Hult camp north of Rapid River.

Dr. Hult's deer is said to have a beautiful evenly matched 10-point set of antlers with a spread of 22 1/2 inches.

Weight of the deer was estimated at 180 pounds.

A. R. Doherty got a fine four-point, 140 pounder on the Soo Line grade east of Rapid River.

Shot at over 200 yards, the deer was dropped right on the ties by Doherty.

Rudy Zadnik who has a bunch of lower Michigan men at his camp on the Whitefish, killed an 8 pointer and his son, Lt. Robert Zadnik, Army Air corps, who is here from Florida for the season, got a 10 pointer the first morning.

Zadnik reports the hunters in his area are having good success.

At the Sarasin-King camp on the Stonington Peninsula, Earl Sarasin, city, downed a 13-point, 200 pound deer on the second morning.

The antlers had nine additional short points over a half inch in length.

At the Olson-Kallerson camp at Stonington, John M. Olson, Torval Kallerson and Hubert Bray were successful the opening day.

Another deer was shot by a member of the party at the Micks camp at Haymeadow, John Matson getting a big deer Friday.

Irvin, Walk shot a 21-point pound buck at the J. P. Carlson camp at the Haymeadow and Ted Stade got a 180 pound, 8 point buck at 7:30 o'clock on Thursday morning at Morman creek.

The hunters went back home and boosted the merits of South Dakota citizens, the great pheasant hunting and the wonderful hospitality at very fair prices.

Their friends listened and joined them on their trip the next year.

This year, with gas rationing lifted, the good name of South Dakota drew thousands of out of state hunters at $20 per head.

Pheasant hunting has become one of South Dakota's greatest businesses, in dollars and cents. The same old sportsmen still go there, eager to spend the money in exchange for the pheasant hours afield.

Now, that the state has built up its reputation, it is beginning to tear it down. The citizens are getting money hungry, greedy beyond the once kindly, friendly manner of the old days.

While much of the old hospitality still exists, if you know where to go, much of it has ceased to be.

They are beginning to look at the visiting hunters in a much more mercenary manner. In fact there is some contempt for the boys who visit their state and spend their money freely.

They are beginning to look at outside money as "sucker money."

Thousands of the visitors are good business men. Many of them can buy and sell those with whom they have dealings in South Dakota. They made their money on good, sound business principles, live and let live.

Almost everyone can be played for a sucker once, for they'd "rather pay than holler." No one can long continue gouging the business man or the man who has saved a little money to take a trip each year and has to stand for petty graft or discounts.

If we, in Wisconsin and Michigan, try to bear down on the tourists for more than is fair and right, we lose them to Canada or Minnesota. If South Dakota continues her present policy, North Dakota and Saskatchewan Canada, will find our visiting hunters there next year and each year thereafter.

In the next article we shall tell you of some of the abuses which spread by word of mouth, will bring more harm to South Dakota than all of her printed magazines can overcome.

Headlighting Costs Hunter Pretty Sum

Harold Redinger of Stonington paid a fine of $50 and costs of $7 in the justice court of O. C. Estenson this week when he pleaded guilty to a charge of headlighting deer.

Redinger was arrested on the Stonington peninsula the night before season opened by conservation officers Ray Roberts of Nahma and Robert Bezzel of Ishpeming.

CUT TIMBER TRACT

Iron River—One hundred acres of virgin timber of the Charles Lawrence property on Chicagoan lake, much of which borders the scenic road from US-2 at Fortune lake to Chicagoan lake, will be selectively logged by the Vulcan corporation, Antigo, Wis., this fall and winter, and the logs shipped to their Antigo mill.

The block of timber is one of the last in the Chicagoan lake area.

The timber was sold to the Vulcan corporation by Mrs. Dorothy Lawrence Harris, of Muskegon, Mich., a daughter of the late mining man. The land is overgrown with mature timber which will be taken off.

turned home Wednesday after visiting with Mrs. Wallins parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. McPherson accompanied them to their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Harris and two children, of Chicago arrived Thursday for a weeks visit. Mrs. Harris mother, Mrs. Ida Vietzke, will accompany them to Chicago on their return home, where she will spend the winter.

Pic. Roland W. Young left Friday for Percy Jones Hospital after visiting with his mother, Mrs. Ellen Young, for 45 days. He spent one and one half years in Europe, and is now going to receive his discharge.

Sgt. Black Tells Lions Club About Fall Of Corregidor

Corregidor was surrendered to the Japanese only when it became futile to hold out longer, members of the Lions club were told by Sgt. Joseph Wallace Black, city, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Black, 523 Michigan avenue, who is back in the United States and Gladstone after having been a prisoner of the Japanese for three years and four months.

In modest manner, the Marine told his audience that had it not been for the courageous and long stand of the men on the Philippine fortress under General Wainwright the entire course of the war might have been changed, for at that time the biggest part of our fleet was sunk and if the Japs could have taken the Philippines like they conquered other areas in the western Pacific, they surely would have bombed west coast cities and have invaded Alaska.

Sgt. Black said that after almost incessant bombing the Japs invaded Corregidor on May 5, 1942 (he remembers the date for two reasons, one it being his birthday anniversary). They lacked facilities for resisting further, and medicine for their ill and wounded and finally Gen. Wainwright decided to surrender the best policy.

Black said the Japs were brutal, inhuman monsters who treated the prisoners cruelly and inflicting barbarous tortures upon many.

Moved from the Philippines to Japan proper, he worked in a mine 30 miles from Nagasaki for a long period. Twelve hours work was required of the prisoners and they had to walk to work and back and most worked on the 8th level. The time spent in reaching the job did not count, the men had to put in 12 hours after they reached the area where they could produce. Eight cents a day was what the Japs paid them, when they paid.

Black was still at the prison camp near the mines when liberated on Sept. 24, 1945.

He was there when the atomic bomb was dropped on Nagasaki, thirty miles away and the men knowing nothing of such a bomb thought an earthquake had occurred. He had the opportunity to see Nagasaki later and said the damage is indescribable. The only thing not destroyed by the bomb seemed to be concrete and brick. He attributed the end of the war mainly to the bomb.

He weighed 82 pounds upon his release but after treatment at a series of Naval Hospitals now weighs 165 pounds. While he feels fairly well, he is not in nearly as good health as before the ill treatment by the Japs, he states.

Most of the mail which was sent the prisoners was destroyed by the Japs and Red Cross boxes never reached them, Black said.

Sgt. Black, who has had 15 years of active service in the U.S. Marines, wears the following decorations and ribbons: U.S. Army unit citation with two oak leaf clusters, the Legion of Merit, second Nicaraguan campaign, Order of the Purple Heart, Presidential Citation with one battle star, Victory medal, Philippine defense with three bronze stars, Good Conduct Medal, Expeditionary force, Pre-Pearl Harbor with one battle star, China Service, Asiatic Pacific theatre with one battle star. He may get another for there is talk now of having one for liberated prisoners of war.

Typhoon Made Life On Ship Miserable Says Glenn Nichols

Enroute from Leyte to Okinawa the USS PC 1251 was caught in the tailend of a typhoon, Glenn Nichols, PO 2/C, a member of the 1251 crew, writes his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Nichols, 1628 Lake Shore Drive.

"It sure was rough, we couldn't sleep cause we would roll out of our sacks and we couldn't eat anything but crackers and cheese cause the dishes wouldn't stay on the table. I guess it was the most miserable three days I have spent aboard ship. We heard that about a dozen boats had been swamped by fifty-foot waves. Well we finally got under way for Japan again and we had to outrun another typhoon near southern Japan."

"Well, if that wasn't enough to worry about we had to dodge mines all the way to Kure, naval base in central Japan. The landings finally came on Oct. 6. It was like a regular invasion with gunfire."

"The islands of Japan are just a big pile of rocks and hills, and I can readily understand why Japan wanted more land. It is amazing to see how they have every possible inch under cultivation."

Nichols ship was on its way from Japan to Guam when he wrote the letter. He stated in the forepart of his missive that the last letter from home he had received was dated Aug. 29.

Those present at the party were, Mrs. Peter Waeghe and daughters, Mary Lou and Lindsay, Mrs. Eugene Holm and sons, Jack and Gene, Nora, Lois and Freddie Counterman, Mrs. Ronald La-Crosse and son, Ronnie, Pfc. and Mrs. Harold Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. ## IRON MOUNTAIN PASTOR SPEAKS

Addresses Lakeside PTA
On Subject Of Self
Discipline

Growing children should be taught, far more rigidly than is generally the case today, to be masters of themselves, the Rev. N. V. McConaughy, pastor of the First Presbyterian church in Iron Mountain stated in a talk given before the Central-Lakeside PTA at Lakeside school Friday evening.

Children must be taught self discipline, he said, so that they may be equipped to assume proper responsibilities and enjoy their freedom within the bounds of self control. Youth is often prone to misinterpret "liberty" and wants to throw off the control of parents, school and church before they have learned to substitute their own self control and keep within bounds. He likened the need for self discipline for youth to the need for safety devices and controls on powerful machinery.

Parents, he said, should not give up control of their growing children until the children are able to assume responsibilities. However, he warned, this control should not be so complete that the youngsters have no chance to be on their own.

In closing he voiced the need for Divine help in achieving these ends. He said, "freedom of religion" does not mean "freedom from religion," and if we are to enjoy religious freedom, the responsibility is ours to develop a faith to live by.

Also presented at the meeting was a short talk by Mrs. Hugo Anhalt, of Milwaukee, a traveling representative of the Girl Scout movement. She was introduced by Mrs. A. F. Hall.

The Misses Arlene Curley and Shirley Heinz presented short talks, prepared by them in an essay contest in which they were successful. Their themes touched on treatment and rehabilitation of tuberculous patients.

Mothers of third and fourth grades in the schools were hostesses.

U. P. Briefs

RECEPTION PLANNED
Iron Mountain—The Rev. Glen Sanford, who came here on Wednesday, Nov. 7, from Garden, to assume charge of the church of Immaculate Conception, will be honored at a reception at 7:30 Sunday night in the parish hall. His parishioners and friends will be welcome.

The Rev. Fr. Sanford, who for some time served the Channing-Sagola parish before going to Garden, where he was pastor of St. John the Baptist church, has many friends in this vicinity.

GETS DEER IN REICH
Caspian—Lt. Hugh Clark caught his deer early this season, he relates in a recent letter to his mother, Mrs. Floy Clark, Caspian. He and six other buddies went hunting in Berlin, Germany, where they are stationed, and killed a deer, and several days later Lt. Clark got a 300 lb. deer, the first of its kind to be killed over there.

Lt. Clark is stationed with the 9th Army Defense Command, and is now flying a C-47 transport. He has been overseas a year and in uniform almost three years.

lodge 43 years ago. Holding the mortgage is W. L. Middlebrook, the only surviving charter member of the lodge. In the background, from left to right, are G. S. Johnson, Dr. T. R. Southard and Alex Creighton, lodge trustees. The photo was taken by John Girvin.

Veteran Laws Women's Club Program Theme

"Michigan's Returned Service Men" will be the theme discussed before the regular meeting of the Manistique Women's Club at Lakeside School Tuesday afternoon.

Roy McCollum, of Marquette, who has specialized in Veteran legislation will be present to give a movie discussion of the subject and answer questions on this very important and vital subject.

Women of the city, regardless of whether or not they are members of the club are invited to be present and participate in the program. Non members will be asked, however to notify Mrs. Ken Van Eyck or Mrs. Elwood Taylor members of the program committee, of their intention to be present.

Also on the program will be a vocal solo by Herbert Peterson, and the Misses Arlene Curley and Shirley Heinz, senior high school students, will present prize winning radio scripts prepared by them touching on the treatment and rehabilitation of tubercular patients.

The following hostesses will serve: Mrs. E. Lundstrom, chairman; Mrs. A. Sandberg, Mrs. George Morton, Mrs. J. M. Hewitt, Mrs. Howard Graff, Mrs. Frank Dahms and Mrs. A. J. Cayia.

City Briefs

Arthur Vanhause of Milwaukee is spending a few days here visiting at the J. J. Huska home and hunting in this vicinity.

Word has been received here that Kenneth Mulhaupt, who enlisted in the Merchant Marines in September, is stationed in Okinawa.

Mrs. A. D. Carmon and Mrs. Alma Marquette of Virginia, Minnesota, are visiting here at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Krumme. Mrs. Carmon is the former Mrs. Burt Krumme.

Earl Huska left yesterday for his home in Saginaw after spending the past few days hunting and visiting with relatives.

Hunters Lose Guns In Car Burglaries

Along with the rush of hunters to the Manistique area, a wave of automobile burglaries broke out, and state and local police last night warned deer season visitors to keep close watch of their cars and not leave them unlocked while parked in Manistique, especially during the rush hours.

Two automobiles were looted at Manistique Saturday night. Clarence Talsma of Hudsonville left his car unlocked and lost a .35 Remington slide action rifle. A window in the automobile of Ed Walters of Holland was broken and thieves got away with two rifles and a shotgun.

State police are asking the co-operation of local residents in curbing the epidemic of car burglaries.

Hunting With Lights Brings Fines To Two

Hunting deer with the aid of an artificial light cost George and Matthew Lakesky of Cooks $18.50 each when they appeared before Justice W. G. Stephens in municipal court Friday evening.

Tom Mellon, conservation officer, came upon the pair the night before while they were cruising along a country road in Inwood township. They were flashing the light along each side of the road when he stopped them. Unconscious and loaded guns in the car made their actions hard to explain.

Appearing before Judge Stephens, they pleaded guilty to the charge. He fined each $10 and ordered them each to pay $8.50 costs. In addition, the search light was confiscated. The fines were paid.

Walter Johnson Expected Home In A Few Days

Mrs. William Johnson, of Schoolcraft avenue, has received word that her son, T-5 Walter E. Johnson, of the Second Signal Battalion, which has seen service overseas for more than a year, arrived in this country on November 15.

Walter stated that he hopes to be discharged in time to enjoy a few days of deer hunting in the vicinity of his old home town before settling down to civilian life in Chicago.

BETTY OLSEN, COOKS, DIES

Was Valedictorian Of Cooks High School
Class Of '41

Miss Betty Lee Cooks, 21, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Olsen, died Friday morning at the University Hospital at Ann Arbor, following a lingering illness.

Funeral services will be held Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Morton funeral home, with the Rev. P. S. Nestander officiating. Burial will be in Fairview cemetery.

Miss Olsen was born in Manistique on March 20, 1924 and lived in Manistique and Cooks all her life. She attended school at Cooks and graduated from the Cooks high school, as valedictorian of her class in 1941. She was a member of the Cooks Congregational church.

Surviving her are her parents; a sister, Mrs. Fred Boyer, of Detroit; two brothers, Private Orville Olsen, stationed in Okinawa, and Gene H., at home; and her grandparents, Mrs. Emma Olsen and Mr. and Mrs. John Haindl, all of Cooks.

Tips for Farmers

by J. L. Heirman, County Agent
FEEDING THE POULTRY
FLOCK

Farmers raising poultry for egg production should have them at top production in order to realize a profit. Hens, in order to lay a normal quota of eggs need a good balanced laying mash as part of her diet. Although whole grain will keep a hen in condition as far as body maintenance is concerned, it's the laying mash that aids egg production.

In recent experiments, hens laid fifty-seven eggs a year when fed grain only. Hens that were fed a laying mash in addition produced one hundred and seventy-nine eggs. In terms of profit, the hens that were fed grain only returned thirty-five cents each over feed costs to their owner. The mash-fed hens returned two dollars and forty-seven cents above feed costs which is seven times as much as the hens receiving only grain. Good clean drinking water is also essential for laying hens. A laying flock of one hundred hens will require about six gallons of water a day.

A hen's body is about 55% water while the eggs she produces are about 65% water. Consequently lack of water affects production more than lack of feed. Since water is cheap farmers should always have an ample supply available for the laying flock. If you don't think so, here are some figures to prove it. An average dozen of eggs weigh 24 ounces, two thirds of the weight is water or 16 ounces in every dozen. A gallon of water weighs 128 ounces. This means that eight dozen of eggs can be produced from one gallon of water. If eggs are selling at 50 cents a dozen, then every gallon of water will return you four dollars.

Large kangaroos in Australia have been timed at about 40 miles an hour.

Jeanette Mulhaupt Becomes Bride Of West Branch Man

Marriage vows were exchanged in a recent ceremony at St. Francis de Sales Catholic church, between Miss Jeanette Mulhaupt, daughter of Mrs. Mina Mulhaupt, and Edward Mulhaupt, of this city, and Carl J. Gildner, of West Branch, the Rev. Fr. B. J. P. Schevers conducting the nuptial mass.

Attending the couple were Mrs. Thomas Breitenbeck and Sgt. Leonard Mulhaupt, a brother of the bride. The bridal party marched to the altar to the strains of traditional wedding music. Mrs. Rose Patrick sang "Ave Maria."

The bride was dressed in a gold suit with brown accessories to match and wore a corsage of Bricliff roses and baby mums. Mrs. Breitenbeck wore a soldier blue suit with brown accessories and wore a corsage of chrysanthemums.

A wedding breakfast at the home of the bride's mother followed the ceremony with twenty five guests present.

The couple will reside in West Branch where Mr. Gildner is associated in the Ed Gildner & Son Lumber Company.

HUNTER WASN'T LOST, CAMP WAS

Tecumseh Man Searches
Day And Night For Elusive Tent

He wasn't lost but his camp was. Richard Jackson, 60, of Tecumseh, had something like that to report to local state police, but he wasn't joking. He had spent one tire night and the best part of the next day looking for the camp he and two companions from his home town had set up on the day the deer hunting season opened.

Late in the afternoon of Friday, he had come upon another camp near Steuben, set up by Glen and Roy Roberts, of Flint, and told his story, stating that he had lost his bearings although he had never seriously considered himself lost. When asked to tell where, in a general way, his camp was located, he said he had forgotten the name of the town that they were near. All he remembered was that the camp was near a country road not far from where a new bridge had been built over a creek.

The Roberts brothers took him to the Manistique state police headquarters where his two companions, in a great state of agitation were waiting for him. They were reporting his long delayed absence.

The town whose name he had forgotten was Shingleton. It is esimated that he tramped about 20 miles.

He still insists that he wasn't lost because he was constantly coming upon roads and trails of some sort, which should lead somewhere; but that camp simply would not show up.

Driveway Snow Plowing

Due to the increase in costs and other factors, the Schoolcraft County Road Commission has established new rates and conditions for this service as follows:

The service will consist of wheel traffic from the edge of the normal traveled way on the State or County road to one point on the private premises at such times as are convenient to the Road Commission only after the completion of all required work on State and County roads.

The cost will be $7.00 for each driveway under 301 feet in length and $2.00 additional for each additional 100 feet or fraction thereof.

A simple agreement will be signed and payment made at the office of the Road Commission, Manistique, before any work is done.

The right is reserved to reject any request when in the opinion of the Road Commission the driveway is not suitable for plowing because of surface conditions or snow conditions.

LADIES INVITED TO GRID DINNER

Football Banquet To Be Held At St. Joseph Church Hall

The 14th annual Chamber of Commerce football recognition banquet in honor of Escanaba and St. Joseph high school players will be held in the St. Joseph church basement Monday evening, Nov. 26, and the ladies of the St. Joseph Altar Society will be in charge of dinner arrangements. It was announced yesterday.

For the first time since the annual affair was established in 1932 an invitation has been extended to women to attend the football meeting and it is probably that many women will accept the invitation. In previous years, the ticket sale was confined to the capacity of limited dining facilities. The spacious basement hall of the St. Joseph church will permit much larger attendance than at previous banquets.

Another reason for the decision to invite women to the annual banquet is the fact that the principal speaker this year is Dizzy Trout, a well known baseball star of the world champion Detroit Tigers. Many Escanaba women are avid baseball fans and several have expressed a desire to hear Trout and his baseball colleague, Charles Hostetter, Tiger outfielder, in their appearance here.

Tickets for the affair went on sale Friday noon. Members of the Chamber of Commerce will be contacted by the banquet ticket committee. Any persons not directly contacted, however, may secure tickets at the Chamber of Commerce office. Each ticket will pay for the dinner of one football player of either St. Joseph or Escanaba high school as well as the dinner of the ticket purchaser.

Battling Hawkeyes Trip Up Minnesota Gophers, 20 and 19

Iowa, City, Ia., Nov. 17 (AP)—Downtown Iowa, kicked about the Western Conference without a football victory since 1942, shocked Minnesota's once Golden Gophers, 20 to 19, today.

Not since Iowa crushed Wisconsin's title hopes, 6 to 0, Nov. 7, 1942, had the Hawkeyes won a conference contest. Only a tie with Indiana in 1943 had rewarded their efforts throughout 18 games.

IRISH SMOTHER WILDCATS, 34-7

BY CHARLES DUNKLEY

Evansville, Ind., Nov. 17 (AP)—Notre Dame, overwhelmed by the Army, 48-0, a week ago, bounced back into the victory column today by smothering Northwestern 34-7, before a standing room crowd of 49,500—largest at Dyche stadium since the late Knute Rockne fielded his last championship Irish team in 1930.

Notre Dame was outplayed by the scrappy Wildcats in the first two periods, and succeeded in throttling four Northwestern touchdown bids. Thereafter, the Wildcats offensive fizzled, but they managed to avert a shutout with a 77 yard touchdown drive late in the final period.

The Irish scored in each of the four periods, crossing the goal line twice in the fourth on aggressive heads up play.

Although the Wildcats controlled the ball most of the first half, they were stopped on the Notre Dame five-inch line and the six Notre Dame line. Notre Dame's only real offensive burst in the first half was a touchdown march late in the opening period.

CADETS CLINCH CLAIM TO FAME

Strong Penn Eleven Is Overwhelmed Before Crowd Of 73,000

BY GAYLE TALBOT

Philadelphia, Nov. 17 (AP)—Army's incredible team just about clinched its claim to gridiron immortality by overwhelming a supposedly strong University of Pennsylvania eleven, 61 to 0, before an awed crowd of 73,000 at Franklin Field today.

That furious pair, Glenn Davis and Doc Blanchard, each scored three touchdowns before they were withdrawn from the carnage in the third period. What the final score might have been had the Cadets' magnificent first team been permitted to go the route way anybody's guess.

In racking up their 17th straight victory the Cadets ran their scoring total for eight games this season to 330 points against the opponents' 33. They served dire warning to Navy, whom they meet a fortnight hence in this town.

Blanchard and Davis were, as usual, superb. For the third time against a major opponent this year Davis figured in an Army score on the second play from scrimmage when he raced 27 yards around right end for a touchdown after only 2.281 minutes of play. Each of the Cadets' All-America twins had scored 16 touchdowns during the season.

The Quakers, barely beaten by Navy and generally regarded as the Eastern team most likely to extend the West Pointers' unbeaten streak, were knocked back on their heels at the outset and never figured in the contest.

The Cadets' piled up 383 yards by rushing to Penn's 56, and passed for another 139 to the Quaker's 92 yards. Not shown by the statistics was the fact that two touchdowns runs by Blanchard in the first quarter were called back because the officials detected an Army back in motion.

Not until the closing minutes of the game, when Army's third team was in the game, did Penn manage to push the ball past midfield. Then the Quakers put together four straight first downs and drove as far as the Cadets' 14 before they were thrown back.

Power Of Buckeyes Whips Illini, 27-2

BY HAROLD HARRISON

Columbus, O., Nov. 17 (AP)—Ohio State's power burst in the face of Illinois' football team in the fourth period today and the Bucks smashed their way to an impressive 27 to 2 victory over the Illini to stay right behind Indiana in the race for the Western Conference championship.

The Bucks scored the first time they had the ball and then nursed a slim lead until the final period when superior manpower again paid off and they hammered across the goal line three times.

It was the seventh victory in eight starts for Ohio and the 11th straight triumph over the Illini who haven't beaten Ohio State since 1934.

The Illini stalled off every Ohio threat until the final period.

Illinois made only two serious scoring threats.

The first was on the final play of the second period when Stanley Stasica intercepted one of Daugherty's passes on his 35 and ran 60 yards to the Ohio five as the gun fired.

The second Illini threat was shortly after the start of the third period. From his own 43 Stasica heaved a pass to Rodczek which was good for 47 yard to the Buck 10 yard line.

Four plays gained a net of only six yards, however, and Ohio took the ball on downs, only to yield a safety to the Illini.

Mud Didn't Stop Indiana Hoosiers

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

Pittsburgh, Nov. 17 (AP)—The combination of the Pitt Panthers and the weather man couldn't stop Indiana's Hoosiers today and they rolled to a 19 to 0 victory over the outclassed Pitt team in the deep mud of the Panthers' big football bowl.

It was the seventh straight victory and the eighth of a season marked only by an early season tie with Northwestern for the Western Conference leaders. Pitt, absorbing its sixth straight defeat, its fourth shutout and its 17th consecutive loss to Big Ten foes, never was able to give the Hoosiers a tussle.

A crowd of about 10,000 umbrella-guarded spectators watched the game in a pouring rain that didn't end until the second half.

Pete Pihos, a pile-driving full-ground gainer, with Tallapoosa speedy freshman from Cary, Ind., were Indiana's most effective ground gainers, with Tallapoosa cutting loose a couple of good passes when they counted.

In all, Indiana made 17 first downs and a total of 235 yards as compared to Pitt's net of 105 yards on offensive plays.

The Hoosiers couldn't cross the goal again until the third quarter.

Why Not Have Umpires Rule On Hits, Errors?

By HARRY GRAYSON

NEA Sports Editor

CHICAGO—The by now famous Greenberg correction in the 6th game of the World Series leaves this thought: Why not have the umpires decide hits and errors?

Certainly, old Bill Summers, umpiring at third base, was in a better position to see the unfortunate break that sent the meeting of wartime accidents to the limit than three veteran writers straining their eyes through a netting from seats atop the grandstand some 250 feet away. Had Umpire Summers been calling hits and errors, too the official scorers and everybody else in the press box immediately would have been given the traditional thumbs up signifying a hit. For it was plain that the ball Stanley Hack smacked in the 12th inning struck a sprinkler attachment or something and bounded crazily three feet over the stopping Hank Greenberg's right shoulder.

Incidentally, the official scorers' skull gave their baseman Hack the distinction of hitting the longest two-base hit on record. He belted a Dizzy Trout fast ball at 4:06 in the afternoon, and it was not swelled to a double until 10 o'clock at night.

Umpires rule whether a ball is fair or foul. They unhesitatingly make a decision deciding the World Series swag. So why not let them go all the way and decide between the hit and the error?

"Why saddle us with this additional burden?" asks Larry Goetz of the National League staff. The answer to this is that three or four umpires are assigned to each major league game. Among them they should find time to pick out a hit from an error while keeping their eyes on the ball.

Surely the umpires calling hits and errors should work out well in World Series if for no other reason than it would give the two alternates something to do. As things are, they simply sit behind the third base dugout cracking peanuts while waiting for one of the regulars to be incapacitated by a line drive or in some other fashion. Why not put them to work as hit and error arbiters? They could be stationed advantageously on foul lines.

There is a precedent for this re-legating of hit and error authority to the umpires.

Entire clubs once appealed to the official scorer for a decision as to whether a player scored before the final putout on a run down play. When league heads had enough of this, and the accompanying squawks, they wisely came to the conclusion that the decision should be made on the spot by the umpire-in-chief.

If the hit and error department was turned over to the boys in blue, I doubt that there would be any complaints from baseball writers eligible as such about official scorers being deprived of prerogatives for the extra point.

That would make them recorders, which is what able writers know they should be instead of being designated as official scorers.

For they also fully realize that they are too far removed from the play to be competent judges.

Decisions of all kinds, including whether a batted ball is a hit or an error, should be left to the umpires.

It is for this that they are schooled, paid and put on top of the action.

ALL-AMERICA TIME AT HAND

Army's Dominating Position Complicates Situation

By HARRY GRAYSON

NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK—The first letter recommending one of the athletes for All-America came in today and that means the end of the 1945 football season is drawing near. These effusive communiques are as reliable as a time signal and in a few weeks there will be an avalanche of votes with enough names to pick five teams.

Two radical parties have sprung up among the selectors this year and the basis for the division is this superlative Army team. One group would happily simplify the entire problem of selecting a team by simply awarding the top positions to Army's starting eleven. The other group would declare all Cadets ineligible for the All-America and name them as a super squad.

There is a democratic note to the latter suggestion for it would open up the mythical team to many of the nation's better operatives who may not be considered as "college" players by the selectors. Tucker and McWilliams are murdering the opposition. It would be a break for the Gilmer, the Fishers, the Dancewitzs, the Fenimore and the Scotts.

A lunatic fringe would also make the Army's killers eligible for selection on the National Professional League all-star team. This group has been unable to muster sufficient strength for their proposal to be considered seriously.

Speaking of All-America candidates, one of the season's strange twists is the transfer of Cal Rossi, the highly-regarded halfback from U.C.L.A., to Harvard. He was shifted by the Navy to Cambridge for further training prior to being commissioned but because he entered in the middle of the term Dick Harlow cannot use him on the Crimson squad.

Rossi is truly one of the Joe Unsmungs of the current season. In five games against Southern California, San Diego Navy, California, Saint Mary's Pre-Flight and Oregon, he netted 679 yards on 95 whacks for an outstanding average of 7.15 yards per try. He scored five touchdowns, caught two passes for 36 yards, returned six punts for 46, returned three kick-offs for 57 and intercepted one pass for a 22-yard return. His total net gain for all departments was 991 yards.

Had Rossi been permitted to play but one more game for the Uclans, he stood a good chance of breaking the Bruins' record-painful mark of 812 yards net which Kenny Washington set in 1939.

PETE ELLIOTT'S PASSES CLICK

Wolverines Have Chance For Title If Indiana Is Bumped Off

By FRANK KENESSON

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 17 (AP)—Two 50-yard touchdown passes from Freshman Halfback Pete Elliott to Bob Nussbaumer in the first half enabled Michigan to eliminate Purdue's Boilermakers from the Big Ten football title fight today 27 to 13.

Elliott, brother of Chalmers (Bumps) Elliott, Purdue star of 1944, had a hand in all four Michigan scores, plunging over from the one-yard line in the first half and passing 10 yards to End Art Renner for the final fourth period touchdown.

Michigan's victory was its fourth in five Big Ten games and gave the Wolverines a chance for the Western Conference title if they can beat Ohio State and Purdue dumps Indiana next Saturday.

Elliott, 18-year-old Bloomington, Ill., halfback who started only because Wally Teninga was nursing a shoulder injury, gave the crowd of 50,100 fans its first thrill by throwing 40 yards to Nussbaumer, who took the pitch behind the Purdue secondary and stepped the remaining 10 yards for the opening Michigan score before the game was five minutes old.

Toss Intercepted
Elliott's second touchdown pass to Nussbaumer came on the second play after Purdue kicked off. With the ball on Michigan's 46, Elliott faded back, hit Nussbaumer on the Purdue 25, where he eluded two Purdue tacklers and cut back across the field to score standing up. George Chalmers, converting for the second time in three tries, put Michigan ahead 20-7 at the half.

The Boilermakers punched to Michigan's 17-yard line in the third period, but Renner intercepted De Moss' pass and after Elliott punted out Purdue went 58 yards on a sustained drive. Dave Shaw scoring early in the fourth from the one-yard line. Hughes' kick was blocked.

Two more penalties ruined Boilermaker scoring chances in the fourth as Michigan added its fourth touchdown on Elliott's pass to Renner for victory "insurance". Chalmers again converted, his third conversion of the afternoon.

Michigan's scoring provided the margin of the Wolverines' superiority for Purdue had a 13 to 10 margin in first downs and an edge of 173 yards to 145 rushing. With Elliott completing four of his five passes for 124 yards, the Wolverines went 149 yards by air to Purdue's 92 on De Moss' nine completions in 15 pitches.

Three Games Lost
Cody led the Boilermaker ball-carriers with 105 yards in 23 carries while Bill Canfield gained 52 yards in 11 rushes and caught four of De Moss' passes for 39 yards more.

Elliott was Michigan's leading carrier on the ground as well as in the air, carrying 44 yards rushing in 13 carries. Freshman Fullback Dan Dworshy went 34 yards in six plays and Nussbaumer 29 yards in the 10 times his signal was called.

Michigan's victory today was its ninth in 11 meetings with the Boilermakers, who haven't beaten a Michigan football team since 1929.

Purdue's loss today, coupled with its earlier defeat at the hands of Northwestern, boosted the Boilermakers right out of the Big Ten championship scramble, giving them no chance to overtake Indiana, which hasn't lost a conference game this year.

The Wolverines close their 10-game season here next Saturday against Ohio State. A Michigan victory would give the Crisler crew a record of seven wins and three defeats, to Indiana, Army and Navy.

"MUSHROOM" CAVES

Most of the famous Chislehurst caves of Kent, England, are being used in mushroom cultivation. The famed caves consist of 90 feet deep and capable of accommodating 80,000 persons.

The forests of Brazil cover about a billion acres.

Washington played 10 games that year, during which the Uclans were undefeated, as compared with Rossi's part-time employment this fall.

Mr. Harlow, the noted ornithologist who is preparing his forces for the traditional rhubarb with Yale, must wonder how this bird ever escaped his coop.

U.C.L.A. can gain a measure of satisfaction, however, from another All-America candidate who promises to be around at the end of the season. He is Al Sparlis, 175-pound right guard, who has been a standout in every game this season. A former Army bomber pilot in China, 25-year-old Sparlis has outplayed every opponent this season and all of them have outweighed him.

Smart, fast and aggressive, he is a 60-minute player and the spark of the Bruins' forward wall. Sparlis is perhaps the far west's leading candidate for All-America honors.

The cynics undoubtedly will ask: "Yes, but could he make the Army squad?"

PRO GRID RACE RESUMED TODAY

Four Of Five Games On Card Will Affect Championship

BY JERRY LISKA

Chicago, Nov. 17 (AP)—All the tail-enders get a chance to mess up the wide-open National Football League race tomorrow when they collide with the four title contenders.

Only one of five league contests will fail to affect the championship chase in the eastern and western divisions and that's the game at Boston between the Green Bay Packers and the Yanks, both in third place in their respective sections.

The other four tilts can result in wide-spread embarrassment to the league's faster steppers. If:

At Washington—The Chicago Bears (1-6) can scalp the Redskins, currently war-whooping at the head of the eastern parade with a 5-1 record.

At Chicago—The lowly Cardinals (1-7) out-butt the Cleveland Rams, co-leaders with the Detroit Lions in the western division at 6-1.

At New York—The Lions get their tails twisted by the Giants, who have a victory and a tie in six starts.

And at Philadelphia—The Eagles (4-2) who are pursuing the Redskins in the eastern bracket, get plucked by the Pittsburgh Steelers (2-5).

Detroit's behemoth line and the versatility of Charles (Cotton) Price make the Lions favorites over the Giants, whose stellar back, Marion Pugh, is injured.

PROFIT CASHING HALTS LEADERS

BY VICTOR EUBANK

New York, Nov. 17 (AP)—The stock market today finished its most active short week in five years with profit cashing stalling numerous leaders, but with assurance that the market will put the over-all average at a peak since early 1931.

There was little change in bullion inventories, although accounts were lightened here and there for protection over the weekend and because of the thought that the recent bulge may have been overdone.

Dealings were lively from the start. Despite intent to slow down, activity in the final hour helped lift volume to one of the largest for a short stretch since late 1941.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was up 1 of a point at 75.5, a top since April 14, 1931, and on the week showed a gain of 3 of a point. The utility average added 4 at 82.3, a high since February 4, 1937, while the industrial and rails were unchanged. Of 850 issues registering, most for a Saturday since December 16, 1941, 406 advanced and 237 declined.

Standard Oil's price advanced 1/8, one of the day's widest moves. Ahead also were United Corp., American Water Works, Western Union, International Telephone, N. Y. Central, Anaconda, Kennecott, American Can, Republic Aviation, Texas Co., United Aircraft and International Nickel. U. S. Steel and Bethlehem were up 1-3/4 each.

Down fractions to a point or so were Chrysler, General Motors, Great Northern, Baltimore & Ohio, U. S. Rubber, Youngstown Sheet, Electric Power, and International Paper.

Bullishness of the week was exemplified by the fact that volume on the big board amounted to 9,550,000 shares, best for a 5-day week since September 9, 1939. The total in the curb of 7,890,000 shares was the largest for any week since the 1929-30 crash.

The stock exchange suffered its worst drop Tuesday, after the Army and Navy announced that they had sold 100,000 shares of stock in the last few minutes of the proceedings.

Selling tapered Wednesday and mining shares responded to congressional proposals for monetization of gold.

ADVANCES NARROW

New York, Nov. 17 (AP)—Narrow advances marked a fairly active bond market today. Government securities centered in low-priced rails, but other sections of the list also shared in the improvement.

Sales for the short session totaled $3,610,000 compared with $3,420,000 a week ago.

St. Louis-San Francisco 4s scored an upturn of 1/4 points to close at 63, while the heavily-traded 4 1/2s of the same carrier moved up half a point to 50 1/2.

The Associated Press average for 20 rails advanced 1 of a point to a new high for the year of 102.2.

Fractional gains were scattered among such liens as Katy first 4s, Morris and Essex 5s, Detroit and Rio Grande Western 5s of 1955 assorted, Rock Island 4 1/2s and refunding 4s, International Great Northern first 6s, Northern Pacific 3s and the higher-priced Pennsylvania general 4 1/2s. Among losers of fractions to a point were New York, West

In Memoriam
In sad but loving memory of our dear son and brother, Joseph Skrobialak, who passed away six years ago, November 18, 1939.

Just six short years ago today, God took our son and brother away. He left us with loved ones near and far. And yet how terribly lonesome we are.

We loved you so and always will—There's a place in our hearts no one can fill. So now we wait for that great day. Pray, dear God, not far away. When together again we can always be. Up there with God, through eternity.

Sadly missed by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Antone Skrobialak and Family. 4413-322-11

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, John Mattson, who passed away one year ago today, November 18, 1944.

The sun and moon are shining on a lone and silent grave. Where sleeps the one we dearly loved. But whom we could not save. We often sit and think of you. And speak of how you died. To think you could not say goodbye. Before you closed your eyes. For all of us you did your best. May God give you eternal rest.

Sadly missed by his wife and children: MRS. ANNA MATTSON AND FAMILY. 4367-322-11

Fishermen Meet Monday To Discuss Net Seizure

Commercial fishermen from Escanaba to Manistique will meet at city hall in Escanaba at 7:30 p. m. Monday to discuss the Michigan law which requires them to surrender all gill nets of less than 2 3/8-inch mesh. About 100 fishermen are expected to be present.

The meeting at Escanaba has been called by Claude Ver Duin, Grand Haven, secretary of the Michigan Fish Producers association, and the fishermen to attend are those from District 4 of the association. Ver Duin will be present for the meeting.

"The commercial fishing industry in Michigan faces a crisis," Ver Duin has advised local fishermen. "It is time for united action on the part of every licensed fisherman in the state. We must work together. Let's start by making this Escanaba meeting a success."

The law provides that only 2 3/8-inch mesh, no smaller, as measured by a steel snap rule, may be used. Previously 2 1/4-inch mesh could be used under the ice. It is the contention of commercial fishermen that in open-water fishing the larger mesh is fair because the herring are large before spawning. After spawning and while under the ice the fish are smaller and few are caught in 2 3/8-inch mesh nets.

Counter argument was that many commercial fishermen used the ice-mesh law as a subterfuge and fished with 2 1/4-inch mesh the year around. So the legislature passed the law making possession and use of that size mesh nets illegal. The law further authorizes conservation officers to inspect commercial fishing installations, to examine nets and to confiscate illegal nets if necessary.

Fishermen insist that if they must surrender the 2 1/4-inch mesh nets it will ruin the opportunity for profit during the winter herring runs. It was recently reported that herring again are returning to Green bay waters, although the run has not yet started in this area of the bay.

Ver Duin advised local fishermen that the following subjects will be considered at the meeting to be held in Escanaba Monday night:

- 1.—The return of confiscated fish nets.
- 2.—Securing permission to use these nets until they can be replaced with new materials.
- 3.—A report on test cases now being tried in Michigan courts involving the illegal search of fish houses and the confiscation of fishing gear.
- 4.—Plans for changes in fishery laws to be made by the Special Session of the Michigan legislature scheduled to meet on Jan. 4, 1946.

5.—Organization of a stronger opposition to the proposed International Control of the Great Lakes fisheries which is rapidly taking shape under an International Treaty with Canada.

And other subjects of equal importance.

Obituary

ROY BEAUCHAMP

Funeral services for Roy Beauchamp, Hardwood, who was killed in a hunting accident by Steve Balog of Detroit, will be held at St. Joseph's church Monday morning. The Rev. Fr. Raymond Bryalski will officiate. Burial will be in the Foster City cemetery.

Roy Beauchamp, who was employed by the county road commission, was born June 13, 1896, in Whitney, Mich. The family lived for some time in Kingsford, leaving in 1935 to move on a farm at Hardwood.

He leaves his widow, Stella Beauchamp; six sons, Donald and Honore, at home; Francis, Iron River; Pfc. Ernest, Camp McCoy; T-Sgt. Leslie, with the Army of Occupation in the South Pacific, and Pvt. Emanuel, also in the Pacific; four daughters, the Misses Eunice, Lorraine and Karren, at home, and Mrs. Raymond Poquette, Iron River; four grandchildren; a sister, Mrs. Alvina Lambert, Escanaba, and five brothers, Charles, Alex, Joseph, Thomas and Henry Beauchamp, Iron Mountain.

Grand Marais

Grand Marais, Mich.—Mrs. Raymond Meldrum and Mrs. Charles Ahlgrim attended funeral services for Bishop Pinten in Marquette last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Felix Soldenski and daughter of Detroit have arrived for the hunting season. Everett Russell of Rochester is a guest at the Soldenski home.

Lt. Commander and Mrs. Sam D. La Rue of Duluth are visiting Mr. La Rue's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James H. Thompson.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Buckland and daughter, Vicky Jean, of Flint are at the James Buckland home for the hunting season.

Pfc. and Mrs. Forrest Martin are visiting at the Doucette and Buckland homes.
